637 Enemy Troops Killed In 4 Days

U.S. And Allied Forces Press Badly Mauled Foe

SAIGON South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. air cavalrymen and allied forces pressed relentlessly in on a badly mauled Communist force near the coast of central Viet Nam today and reported a mounting toll of 637 enemy troops killed or captured in four days of fighting.

The helicopter-borne American troops pushing down from the north claimed 43 more North Vietnamese regulars or Viet Cong killed in the last 24 hours of Operation Irving and 60 more captured.

Units of the South Korean Tiger Division, battering at the Reds from the south, said they killed 77 more Communists and captured three. Along with South Vietnamese infantrymen holding the western flank, the allied total reported since Sunday reached 443 enemy killed and an unprecedented 194 captured.

The U.S. air offensive against North Viet Nam was hampered by foul weather, but B52 bombers, flying at high altitudes above the weather, struck twice in South Viet Nam.

The eight-engine jets hit at dawn today against a Communist bivouac and storage area 45 miles northwest of Qui Nhon, about 20 miles north of the allied forces in Operation Irving.

Other formations of B52s struck simultaneously at Viet Cong strongholds in the Seven Mountains area along the Cambodian border 120 miles southwest of Saigon. Their targets were training, resupply and base camp areas of the Viet Cong in flood-swept Chau Doc province.

U.S. pilots flew 125 bombing missions against North Viet Nam Tuesday and lost one plane, the U.S. Command announced. A Navy A4 Skyhawk was shot down, the 392nd U.S. loss reported in the war over the north. The pilot is missing.

U.S. pilots aimed most of their strikes against Communist water traffic and storage buildings. They reported destroying or damaging 75 barges, junks and ferries and more than 50 buildings in staging and storage areas.

U.S. pilots flew 393 sorties against Viet Cong targets in South Viet Nam Tuesday and claimed they destroyed or damaged 263 huts, structures, bunkers and fortified positions and 10 sampans. South Vietnamese pilots flew 169 combat sorties.

Operation Irving on the central coast appeared to be developing into one of the most successful allied campaigns of the war. The size of the enemy force was unknown, but one report said it included elements of North Viet Nam's 610th Division.

Allied casualties were reported light.

As the ground troops drew in closer on their foe in the coastal mountains and lowlands, U.S. and Vietnamese patrol boats kept up a constant watch along the coast to block any attempt of the beleaguered Communists to escape.

The average ratio in the Viet Nam war has been 5 or 6 enemy killed for every one captured, but in Operation Irving it has been less than 2 to 1.

The U.S. cavalrymen reported killing 35 Communists Tuesday in a five-hour battle 25 miles northwest of Qui Nhon.

Elsewhere in South Viet Nam, 10 American servicemen were killed and 20 others injured in the crash Tuesday of a U.S. Army transport plane at An Khe, the cavalry headquarters 250 miles northeast of Saigon.

A military spokesman said the two-engine plane, carrying 32 persons, crashed into a mountain while making a landing approach in foggy weather. Some of the casualties were wounded servicemen who were being evacuated.

Lt. Gen. Lewis W. Walt, commander of U.S. Marine Forces in Viet Nam, was nicked in the head by a sliver of aluminum Tuesday when an enemy bullet hit his helicopter during a flight to inspect the Marine battleground just below the demilitarized zone.

The general, 53, "didn't even ask for a bandaid," a spokesman said. He completed his inspection and flew on to Saigon for a conference.

Manila Summit Dates Now Set Oct. 24-25

MANILA (AP) — The tentative date for the Manila summit meeting on Viet Nam was changed again today, to Oct. 24-25.

It was the third date proposed. Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos in his original proposal for the meeting had suggested Oct. 18. Later he switched to Oct. 28-29.

Both Australia and New Zealand wanted an earlier meeting because they have general elections within a month. The change was agreed on at a conference today of Foreign Secretary Narciso Ramos with representatives of the six other nations whose heads of government will attend — the United States, South Viet Nam, South Korea, Australia, Thailand and New Zealand.

Senate Trims Anti-Poverty Fund

President Scores Victory In Drive To Cut Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has hit pay dirt in the Senate in his drive to hold down inflationary spending but the zig-zagging economy vein could run out quickly.

While the Senate was voting 45 to 27 Tuesday to lop about $750 million off antipoverty program authorizations, its Finance Committee was loading up a House-passed foreign investors tax bill with 22 amendments Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., said would drain $600 million out of the treasury.

Johnsn's victory in holding antipoverty spending to the $1.75 billion he budgeted for it was achieved at the expense of projects sponsored within the Senate Labor Committee by Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

Both had contended the war on poverty should be escalated.

The cut in the over-all poverty outlays came after Johnson had taken the unusual course of summoning Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen and Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield to the White House Monday night.

Dirksen reported that Johnson "fulminated like Hurricane Inez" when he talked about Congress' trend toward boosting spending above the levels of his budget.

The result was a proposal by Mansfield to chop the $2.5 billion poverty bill back to $2.1 billion. Dirksen upped the ante by proposing a cut back to the $1.75 billion figure Johnson originally recommended. This was the antipoverty total approved by the House last week.

When the $1.75 billion proposal was adopted by a 49-20 Senate vote, it seemed to substantiate the feeling around the Senate that when Johnson really wants a job done he calls on Dirksen.

Senate Set In Clash On Foreign Aid

$3.4 Billion Will Face New Attacks, Perhaps More Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate rolled up the guns today for another foreign policy clash across the old, battered battlefield of foreign aid.

And Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., a commander of the forces supporting the aid program, acknowledged the measure faced new attacks.

But he cautioned that if it was cut much more it would be like "throwing a 10-foot rope toward a man drowning a mile from shore."

"A noble effort, but not very realistic."

The House and then the Senate Appropriations Committee pared the aid bill down to $3.04 billion from the $3.4 billion the administration originally requested.

But Pastore, aware that all the axes haven't been sheathed, observed in an interview: "It's going to be a serious chore to retain the amount as reported by the committee."

Action on the aid appropriation should add fuel to the off-and-on Senate debate over Viet Nam, its cost and the pssible roads to war and peace.

Senators Tuesday heard efforts to cool off any talk of using nuclear weapons in the war — and had cold water splashed on any hopes the Soviet Union might play a peace-maker role now.

"I am sorry to say I do not see that prospect," Foy D. Kohler, the American ambassador in Moscow for four years, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Kohler, questioned by the Senators on his nomination as deputy undersecretary of state for political affairs, said he had tried to get Soviet leaders to undertake a mediation role, such as they did in settling the India-Pakistan border fight.

Stiff Wind Continues In Lower Keys

Tropic Water Will Refuel Hurricane's Engine In Gulf Area

BULLETIN

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Inez, growing meaner again over the warm waters of the Gulf of Mexico, ground today to an ominous stop, lashing the seas with winds up to 126 miles an hour.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Inez hammered Key West, the nation's southernmost city, with 90-mile-an-hour winds today and churned on into the Gulf of Mexico, looking for new coastlines to strike.

Born in the Atlantic Ocean, Inez cut a path of death and destruction through the Caribbean Sea, then returned to the Atlantic to lash the Bahamas and Florida.

Now, in her 12th day, she was in the Gulf, with 700,000 square miles of warm tropic water to refuel her engine and new coastal targets in nearly all directions.

Lights blinked out in Key West and hundreds huddled inside shelters during a wild night in the blacked-out city.

Hurricane winds continued to rage in the lower Florida Keys as Inez moved into the Gulf across the Dry Tortugas, site of the Fort Jefferson National Monument, 68 miles out of Key West.

In the storm's wake, gusts of gale force continued throughout the Keys and up to the marshy southern rim of the Florida peninsula.

Along the southeast Florida "Gold Coast," which suffered only nuisance damage during a 24-hour hammering by gales up to 70 miles an hour, conditions were returning to normal.

Forecasters, baffled for days by the vicious storm's erratic movements, wouldn't guess at her future course beyond tonight. By then, she should be gathering strength 300 miles west of the Keys.

From that area, depending on the guiding forces of nature, Inez could swing back over Florida toward the Atlantic again, roar into the southern Gulf states or go west to Central America.

At her last landfall, from Palm Beach to Key West, four persons died and more than a dozen were hurt. The storm-related deaths added to the list of victims that totaled hundreds in the Caribbean.

A Fort Lauderdale youth wading in the surf, Charles Taylor, 17, was knocked down by a huge wave and disappeared. Police said they feared he drowned but the body was not found.

House To Act On $5 Billion School Fund

Height Of Blazing Controversy Over Desegregation Pace

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's $5.7-billion school bill comes up for action in the House today at the height of a blazing controversy over the pace of school desegregation.

Although the issue is not dealt with in the bill, it is expected to furnish much of the fuel for debate, which could spill over into Thursday.

The bill would authorize spending at an increased rate for the next two years on the elementary and secondary school programs enacted last year by Congress in one of President Johnson's major legislative victories.

Approval of the higher spending levels is expected, but not until there has been much talk of busing of school children, de facto segregatin and racially imbalanced schools.

These controversial topics have been brought to the fore by Southerners and some Northerners angered at what they regard as too vigorous pushing of school integration by Harold Howe II, commissioner of education.

Howe is charged with responsibility under the 1964 civil rights act for cutting off federal funds for schools that continue to discriminate against Negroes. Of 2,000 school districts in the south, 70 have had funds withheld.

Although it is the Civil Rights Act provision that has Southerners aroused, they are expected to seek amendments to the school bill that would prohibit the use of any federal funds for busing students or correcting racial imbalance.

Jury Returns Guilty Action For Burglary

A Common Pleas Court jury at Lisbon found Gail P. Freeman of 155 Thompson Ave., East Liverpool, guilty of burglary Tuesday after lengthy deliberation.

The jurors received the case at 9:50 a. m. At 1:15, they sent the court a written question indicating some were concerned about what would happen to Freeman if they found him guilty.

Defense witnesses had testified Freeman "blacked out" from time to time and his wife said he had applied for admission to a veterans' hospital.

The jury wanted to know if Freeman were found guilty what would happen to him should examination at a VA hospital show he has a mental problem. "Can we recommend clemency?"

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard informed the jurors that the case consisted only of the state's

'Hard' Talks Launched In GE Dispute

White House Panel Says Strike Would Hurt War Effort

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiators in the General Electric Corp. labor dispute get down to hard bargaining today after hearing a special White House panel warn that a strike would seriously hurt the Viet Nam war effort.

Resumption of the talks — halted since Sunday, when President Johnson won a delay of a threatened nationwide union walkout — was announced by chief federal mediator William E. Simpkin. At odds are the giant electrical company and the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers.

Hoffa Loses Plea In 1964 Fraud Case

CHICAGO (AP) — James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, has lost an appeal of his 1964 conviction for mail and wire fraud and conspiracy.

The 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld Tuesday in a 2-1 decision, the convictions of Hoffa and six co-defendants in connection with an alleged plot to defraud the Teamsters' pension fund of more than 1 million.

Hoffa's lawyers contended that the convictions were the result of "vicious publicity," prejudicial evidence and a running feud between Hoffa and Robert F. Kennedy, then U.S. attorney general.

In their majority decision, Judges F. Ryan Duffy and Latham M. Castle held that "each claim of error has been carefully considered and all such claims of error are hereby denied."

Ruby Death Penalty Conviction Reversed

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals reversed today the death-penalty conviction of Jack Ruby for the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald. Oswald was identified by the Warren Commission as President Kennedy's assassin.

The state's highest court for criminal cases sent the case back for retrial in some county other than Dallas where it originally was tried.

Late Col. Muir To Be Honored

'Mr. Marine' To Receive 2 Awards Posthumously

WASHINGTON (AP) — His fellow officers called him "Mr. Viet Nam" — the Marine's Marine who knew the most about planning an assault against Viet Cong guerrillas.

Today Lt. Col. Joseph E. Muir posthumously receives the Navy Cross and the Legion of Merit for his extraordinary heroism in a key battle 13 months ago that provided the United States with one of its first major victories in South Viet Nam.

Among the guests at the ceremony was to be his son, Cadet Joseph E. Muir II, 18, of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

Lt. Col. Muir's battle citation tells the story:

"With utter disregard for his own safety, Col. Muir fearlessly exposed himself to intense enemy fire while leading his battalion against insurgent Viet Cong forces. Though fully cognizant of the danger, he repeatedly positioned himself in the midst of the violent action.

"Upon encountering strong enemy resistance, he joined the assault companies in front line positions to personally direct their advance and succeeded in conquering two of the more strongly defended hostile areas, resulting in 215 confirmed enemy dead."

Muir's 3rd Battalion, 3rd Marine Division, was then in the midst of Operation Starlight, an amphibious landing that scattered two Viet Cong regiments massing to attack the important Chu Lai base near Da Naing.

The battle was a big morale booster for the Marines, then newly committed to Viet Nam: It marked one of the few times tricky Viet Cong units had been trapped and battered by U.S. forces.

Muir lived through that particular hell, but three weeks later — Sept. 11, 1965 — he was again near the front during a skirmish and stepped on a mine. He was instantly killed — the first and, thus far, only Marine battalion commander to die in the Viet Nam war. He was 37.

"He was Mr. Viet Nam to his contemporaries," one Pentagon officer recalled Tuesday. "He was our contact — the guy who knew the most about operations."

Raid Killed 100 Cong

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The U.S. Air Force announced today that a B52 raid two months ago killed more than 100 Viet Cong soldiers, the largest claim of the war for a B52 strike.

U.S. Seen 'Pausing' In Buffer Zone Raids

OTTAWA (AP)—The United States has taken a pause in its bombing of part of the buffer zone separating the two Viet Nams, the Canadian Press reported today. This "has given some hope, no matter how dim, of a general pause in the war's fury," it said.

The Canadian Press spoke of a new policy which it said "appears to be to carry out a pause in a confined area to see whether it brings a similar disengagement by the Communists." It emphasized that the Communist response—if any—is not known in Ottawa.

In No Mood To Talk Cease-Fire

North Viet Feels It Can't Win, France Tells LBJ

NEW YORK (AP) — French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville reportedly told President Johnson that North Viet Nam no longer feels it can win a military victory in South Viet Nam, the New York Times said today.

But the French diplomat also was said to have told the President at their meeting Tuesday that the Hanoi regime is in no mood to negotiate a cease-fire, the Times reported.

Indicating that its information came from close associates of the French foreign minister, the Times dispatch from Washington reported:

Couve de Murville explained that Hanoi believes it can keep its troops fighting indefinitely in South Viet Nam and also thinks published U.S. terms for a cease-fire are not clear.

The French diplomat reportedly feels only some dramatic American gesture can convince Hanoi of American good faith.

The French consider published American statements are deliberately unclear on how, when and under what conditions U.S. forces might be withdrawn from Viet Nam.

The French, for example, want to know if U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg's statement on Sept. 22 calling for a phased withdrawal of "all external forces" means only North Vietnamese army regulars or does it also include the thousands of northern-born Vietnamese who have crossed into the south in recent years and are fighting with the Viet Cong.

Beaver Local Bomb 'Scare' Being Probed

Sheriff's deputies today continued an investigation into a telephoned bomb threat to the Beaver Local High School which brought evacuation of some 500 students for 45 minutes Tuesday.

A man, or a youth, telephoned the office at 9:25 and said, "The school will blow up at 10." Secretaries notified Principal Ted Taylor, who summoned deputies and the Calcutta and West Point volunteer firemen and ordered students out of the building. A search of the building yielded no suspicious items.

Sheriff Russell VanFossan and school officials warned against any such hoaxes, pointing to the expense, loss of classroom time and danger to firemen and police hurrying on emergency duty.

Although the issue is not dealt with in the bill, it is expected to furnish much of the fuel for debate, which could spill over into Thursday.

The bill would authorize spending at an increased rate for the next two years on the elementary and secondary school programs enacted last year by Congress in one of President Johnson's major legislative victories.

Approval of the higher spending levels is expected, but not until there has been much talk of busing of school children, de facto segregatin and racially imbalanced schools.

These controversial topics have been brought to the fore by Southerners and some Northerners angered at what they regard as too vigorous pushing of school integration by Harold Howe II, commissioner of education.

Howe is charged with responsibility under the 1964 civil rights act for cutting off federal funds for schools that continue to discriminate against Negroes. Of 2,000 school districts in the south, 70 have had funds withheld.

Although it is the Civil Rights Act provision that has Southernerns aroused, they are expected to seek amendments to the school bill that would prohibit the use of any federal funds for busing students or correcting racial imbalance.

Jury Returns Guilty Action For Burglary

A Common Pleas Court jury at Lisbon found Gail P. Freeman of 155 Thompson Ave., East Liverpool, guilty of burglary Tuesday after lengthy deliberation.

The jurors received the case at 9:50 a. m. At 1:15, they sent the court a written question indicating some were concerned about what would happen to Freeman if they found him guilty.

Defense witnesses had testified Freeman "blacked out" from time to time and his wife said he had applied for admission to a veterans' hospital.

The jury wanted to know if Freeman were found guilty what would happen to him should examination at a VA hospital show he has a mental problem. "Can we recommend clemency?"

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard informed the jurors that the case consisted only of the state's

'Hard' Talks Launched In GE Dispute

White House Panel Says Strike Would Hurt War Effort

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiators in the General Electric Corp. labor dispute get down to hard bargaining today after hearing a special White House panel warn that a strike would seriously hurt the Viet Nam war effort.

Resumption of the talks — halted since Sunday, when President Johnson won a delay of a threatened nationwide union walkout — was announced by chief federal mediator William E. Simpkin. At odds are the giant electrical company and the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers.

In No Mood To Talk Cease-Fire

North Viet Feels It Can't Win, France Tells LBJ

NEW YORK (AP) — French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville reportedly told President Johnson that North Viet Nam no longer feels it can win a military victory in South Viet Nam, the New York Times said today.

But the French diplomat also was said to have told the President at their meeting Tuesday that the Hanoi regime is in no mood to negotiate a cease-fire, the Times reported.

Indicating that its information came from close associates of the French foreign minister, the Times dispatch from Washington reported:

Couve de Murville explained that Hanoi believes it can keep its troops fighting indefinitely in South Viet Nam and also thinks published U.S. terms for a cease-fire are not clear.

The French diplomat reportedly feels only some dramatic American gesture can convince Hanoi of American good faith.

The French consider published American statements are deliberately unclear on how, when and under what conditions U.S. forces might be withdrawn from Viet Nam.

The French, for example, want to know if U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg's statement on Sept. 22 calling for a phased withdrawal of "all external forces" means only North Vietnamese army regulars or does it also include the thousands of northern-born Vietnamese who have crossed into the south in recent years and are fighting with the Viet Cong.

Stiff Wind Continues In Lower Keys

Tropic Water Will Refuel Hurricane's Engine In Gulf Area

BULLETIN

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Inez, growing meaner again over the warm waters of the Gulf of Mexico, ground today to an ominous stop, lashing the seas with winds up to 126 miles an hour.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Inez hammered Key West, the nation's southernmost city, with 90-mile-an-hour winds today and churned on into the Gulf of Mexico, looking for new coastlines to strike.

Born in the Atlantic Ocean, Inez cut a path of death and destruction through the Caribbean Sea, then returned to the Atlantic to lash the Bahamas and Florida.

Now, in her 12th day, she was in the Gulf, with 700,000 square miles of warm tropic water to refuel her engine and new coastal targets in nearly all directions.

Lights blinked out in Key West and hundreds huddled inside shelters during a wild night in the blacked-out city.

Hurricane winds continued to rage in the lower Florida Keys as Inez moved into the Gulf across the Dry Tortugas, site of the Fort Jefferson National Monument, 68 miles out of Key West.

In the storm's wake, gusts of gale force continued throughout the Keys and up to the marshy southern rim of the Florida peninsula.

Along the southeast Florida "Gold Coast," which suffered only nuisance damage during a 24-hour hammering by gales up to 70 miles an hour, conditions were returning to normal.

Forecasters, baffled for days by the vicious storm's erratic movements, wouldn't guess at her future course beyond tonight. By then, she should be gathering strength 300 miles west of the Keys.

From that area, depending on the guiding forces of nature, Inez could swing back over Florida toward the Atlantic again, roar into the southern Gulf states or go west to Central America.

At her last landfall, from Palm Beach to Key West, four persons died and more than a dozen were hurt. The storm-related deaths added to the list of victims that totaled hundreds in the Caribbean.

A Fort Lauderdale youth wading in the surf, Charles Taylor, 17, was knocked down by a huge wave and disappeared. Police said they feared he drowned but the body was not found.

Beaver Local Bomb 'Scare' Being Probed

Sheriff's deputies today continued an investigation into a telephoned bomb threat to the Beaver Local High School which brought evacuation of some 500 students for 45 minutes Tuesday.

A man, or a youth, telephoned the office at 9:25 and said, "The school will blow up at 10." Secretaries notified Principal Ted Taylor, who summoned deputies and the Calcutta and West Point volunteer firemen and ordered students out of the building. A search of the building yielded no suspicious items.

Sheriff Russell VanFossan and school officials warned against any such hoaxes, pointing to the expense, loss of classroom time and danger to firemen and police hurrying on emergency duty.

A Dependable Newspaper Serving the Tri-State District

Kind Of An Academic Question

Backing and filling, hemming and hawing, attacking and counterattacking over restraints and pretrial reporting about pending criminal cases are exciting to talk about.

But when talking slows down and thinking speeds up, they are a monumental tribute to the art of wasting time.

No one can put any restraints on newspapers. Freedom of the press is a constitutional guarantee.

It is not something newspapers are permitted to do. It is something no one can forbid them to do.

The legal profession could try to lay restraints on what its own members are permitted to say about pending criminal cases (which is where newspapers that go in for sensational stories get their material). But that would last no longer than it would take the first restraint-breaker to engage in "unethical" behavior.

We do not believe the legal profession can control its own members in a situation like this.

We know for a fact no one can tell newspapers what they can print about criminal cases before they come to trial.

Newspapers hold no brief for papers that turn pending criminal cases into circuses. Newspapers do hold a brief for the guarantee that laws abridging freedom of the press are unconstitutional. That is fundamental law.

In view of the fact the legal profession could not discipline all lawyers and it would be unconstitutional to abridge freedom of the press, discussion of restraints on pre-trial publicity about pending criminal cases in a waste of time.

Search For Freedom

East Germans are using a new tactic in the campaign to prevent escapes to the West.

Concrete-lined trenches five feet wide and up to six and a half feet deep are being installed to stop fleeing refugees crossing the border into Lower Saxony.

This is in addition to existing paralleling strips of barbed wire, mine traps and border towers equipped with floodlights and machine-guns.

An increase in the number of refugees slipping into the German state between East Germany and the Netherlands precipitated the latest project.

Significantly, two young East Germans already have managed to escape across the newly reinforced area.

A pointed illustration that neither barriers nor bullets can stop man's eternal search for freedom.

Our Ally 'Down Under'

Australian elections next month could rob the United States of its staunchest ally in the Viet Nam war.

The Liberal party has governed the nation in a coalition with the Country party since December 1949.

Most observers expect the Liberal-led coalition to maintain control. But no one is certain how much the election will be affected by the domestic controversy in Australia over the war.

The Labor party strongly opposed the sending of 4,500 Aussie troops to Viet Nam and has gained support in intellectual ranks.

Opinion polls indicate about 75 per cent support for government policy. But even among that 75 per cent, many oppose sending draftees to fight in Southeast Asia.

This opposition gives the Labor party an outside chance in the Nov. 26 election.

The loss of Australia as an ally in the Viet Nam morass would be tragic, but should it touch off an economic split between the two nations, shock waves would be felt by other have-not countries.

Australia's economy has flourished since the end of World War II.

Recent discoveries of vast deposits of minerals have been made in several sparsely settled regions anl farming regions are a magnet for immigrants.

But Australia needs foreign capital to develop these resources. The United States is a principal source of development funds.

U.S. Ambassador Edward Clark suggested recently the two countries might form an economic partnership some day that could turn Australia's huge underpopulated north into one of the world's greatest food-producing areas.

A 'Wretched Record'

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

An undertaker isn't necessarily the right man for a chicken farm, particularly if his idea of raising chickens is to beat them with a stick and scare them with a fog horn.

Mao Tse-tung, 72, who buried ancient China, is using a stick and a horn on the modern Chinese, and making a mess of it, even though right now they sound as docile as chickens trying to say yes.

This month the Red Chinese celebrated the 17th anniversary of the Mao-led revolution which captured all mainland China for communism. Without question he is one of the supreme revolutionary leaders and guerrilla fighters.

His regime unified a chaotic and impoverished country. But then he had the task of taking it into the 20th century as fast as possible, with all that meant in industrialization and everything else.

THIS IS where he revealed, despite himself, that an undertaker may not be a good chicken farmer, that a great revolutionary leader may be out of place trying to guide and run a country which needs to organize itself.

Many Chinese, judging from the repeated purges of his critics, seem to realize his deficiency, but their voices have been hushed with terror. Yet his terror tactics seem to say he has the same realization himself.

As an authoritarian most of his life, perhaps in part the upside-down product of his resentment against his stern father, it is not hard to see why he would try to destroy and dissent.

It would jeopardize his dream of China as he thinks it ought to be and challenge his rightness and fitness for his present role of omniscient partriach. If dissent prevailed, it would diminish his place in history.

Yet he can't escape the realization, since he saw it happen with Stalin, that the ideas of yesterday's leader may prove out of date tomorrow. Mao is trying to make yesterday last forever. He is having himself deified.

The result: The Chinese people are being clubbed into iron conformity and into subservience to him, his sayings have become the Chinese bible, all criticism is being rendered impossible and the sanctity of Mao is being shouted into their skulls.

He knows well the tradition of the cunning Chinese superman and demonstrated it in 1956 when, to find his hidden or potential critics, he conned them into coming out in the open.

"Let a hundred flowers bloom," he said, "let a hundred schools of thought contend." With this assurance, the critics opened up, and he crushed them.

IN 1958 he showed his inadequacy as a peacetime leader when, with the "great leap forward," he plunged headlong into his greatest disaster. The "leap" was supposed to modernize China in a hurry.

Agriculture — thanks, also, to bad weather — collapsed, food was rationed and farmers and workers, driven beyond endurance by malnutrition, became apathetic. By 1960 the "leap" was abandoned.

Meanwhile, through clumsiness, stupidity and cupidity, Red China's foreign relations became a disaster, too. Most Communist countries were alienated or made hostile. Relations with India were ruined because of China's impatience for expansion. And China lost ground in one backward country after another.

This is a wretched record but, since Mao has the army behind him, the critics among the Chinese people can do nothing. And now, as he advances into old age, Mao is more obsessed than ever with fear of new and different voices.

He is using the Red Guard — multitudes of youthful hooligans with license for brutality — to beat and cow any who are not already in abject conformity.

Call Me 'Browser'

By Truman Twill

I don't know how it started, but the word "browse" puts me on edge.

The thought of "browsing around" and "browsing about" leaves me cold. It offends my sense of propriety.

It has something to do with nibbling.

Browsers are nibblers and vice versa. Herbivorous animals browse and nibble.

I am not a herbivorous animal and that is why I am offended by a figure of speech that lines me up with sheep, goats, rabbits, horses, cattle and other browsers.

Yet the plain truth is I enjoy commercial "browsing," in the sense that I like to look at everything and never buy anything.

My special delight is browsing through display advertising — the kind to be found in the slicks, where the art work is de luxe and the pitch is made to an affluent society I am not acquainted with.

I spend hours leafing through these magazines —nibbling on the attractions displayed in their numerous pages.

The New Yorker is my special delight, because its advertising is aimed at the super-affluent. Where else could an American peasant feast his eyes on baubles of jewelry costing thousands of dollars, on Rolls Royces, Jaguars and the incredible trinkets offered by Abercrombie & Fitch?

Women's magazines are just as good—even better if a peasant is dreaming about living in marble halls. They make their pitch to the eternal urge to live in a better cave, surrounded by gadgetry.

Only in Vogue, Ladies Home Journal, Better Homes & Gardens and so on — can I tippy-toe through deep-pile carpeting, surround myself with crystal and damask at table and imagine what it would be like to whack off my whiskers each morning in marble splendor.

I don't know who buys the goodies portrayed in these posh publications. I know plenty of people who aren't living on relief but I never have known anyone who bought or possessed the things depicted in these magazines.

Is there more going on here than meets the goggling eye? I think so.

I think the strategy is to make "browsers" drool with desire — to let them feel the mink first, figuring they will settle for the rabbit later.

I deeply doubt if anyone buys the super de luxe junk. I think the illustrations are doctored and the descriptions dreamed up.

If I didn't feel this way I'd have to declare myself and my acquaintances victims of chronic poverty being cheated out of our American birthright of bejeweled baubles, $18,000 autos with glove-leather upholstering and interior decor that would have made Julius Caesar apply for Roman relief.

I never could face myself again in the mirror of a medicine cabinet from a discount store, illuminated by one unshaded bulb in a bathroom containing only the er, uh, barest, necessities.

The Big Question: Who Will Win?

'Legal Looting' Charge Aired

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Some of these toughs and ex-plugs have enterprise. But it is not exactly free. It's expensive for low income unionists, menaced merchants and harassed businessmen.

Victor Riesel

These toughs are not hoodlums, though they are the men Sen. John McClellan chose as his star, if silent, witnesses in the parade of wooden - faced fixers before his ever crusading investigating committee. This probe into alleged labor racketeering was a switch from the now almost forgotten hearings of the late '50s. One of McClellan's aides labeled this a "look into the legal looting" of unions and management.

The men involved, led by the bullying Jack McCarthy and Danny Kapilow, who was a fast-hitting pro welterweight once, in effect ran a network of vertical corporations which had mighty political and muscled protection throughout the East.

MANY INSIDERS knew of the multi-million dollar operations which involved at least one warehouse, plans for a high-rise shopping center, simultaneous control of several unions through ownership of a series of union charters, as well as operation of pension and welfare funds. Yet so powerful was McCarthy's protection, not one of the national building and construction unions dared — or cared— to move against him and the local unions they operated as their base of power.

Why were they permitted to run such an industrial-labor complex? Why did no one inside labor bother to go into New York and up to the 16th Floor at 400 Madison Ave. where McCarthy and an associate, Lou Basis, ran the National Consultants Associated, Ltd.? They still have one room there which is hooked up to a central switchboard — 212-421-3400.

Their operations were notorious. McCarthy, Basis and Kapilow moved in and out of other international unions not mentioned in this probe. Basis left the labor movement and became a business broker.

His colleague, McCarthy, and the latter's associates never missed an angle.

With the unions as their base, some of them set up a central purchasing outfit which sold to some of the merchants — who believed that discretion was the better part, not only of valor, but of business acumen.

THE McCARTHY BLOC had built-in agreements. If you were a merchant or businessman, it was a good idea to take the whole service package—window cleaning, floor waxing, some transportation, insurance and, of course, the labor relations consulting service.

If you were about to build anything, it was a good idea to have a talk with McCarthy and company. You did not have to think of it—McCarthy did.

If you needed money, be you labor official or businessman, McCarthy and his fellows knew just where you could get the funds at a rate charitably described as usurious.

Not too long ago they ran a so-called labor newspaper and had the most convicing ways of getting ads.

But some unions fought back and the publication disappeared. These same unions — in non-construction fields—also rebuffed the McCarthy combination efforts to seize new locals.

WHERE WERE the state and national leaders of the building and construction trade unions? Some of this operation goes back to 1954. Many an insider knew that the McCarthy tactic was to pounce on suburban businessmen who were moving to the edge of the glacier-like megalopolis. McCarthy and Kapilow's relations — and the holding of multiple union charters—with locals of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL-CIO) have been under investigation by the authorities for at least two years.

Insiders have known that the McClelland committee probers have been in New York City for some time looking into the medical and dental plans which put more gold in the combine's pockets than could get into the teeth of their combined union membership.

FURTHERMORE, this exploitation flourishes far beyond the Hudson. Similar "legal looting" is money-sucking the economic life blood of hundreds of suburbs. So heavy is the loot in other areas, the pressure soon will geyser into a national scandal.

Records of the Labor and Justice Departments "compliance" officials are loaded with tales of terror.

When it all breaks wide open, all labor will suffer — especially the decent men who for the moment are helpless.

No one will be able to say that notice was not served on the movement by the resolute gentleman from Arkansas.

Letter To Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

This letter is in response to one appearing a few days ago by Drew Ross Gordon.

In regard to the false speculation that "God is dead," I wish to cast my denial with that of the great evangelist Billy Graham when he said "I know it is not true, because I talked with him today."

This is not a new theory. It has been advanced more than once long ago. It is an outgrowth of advanced civilization wherein man becomes too confident in his ability to live without divine guidance, such as breaking the atom and conquering outer space.

In regard to God revealing himself, to me it is just as evident today as I view nature in her silence doing the things that man cannot. Some one has said that "Poems are written by men like you and me but only God can grow a tree."

The Bible says "The fool says in his heart there is no God." Let us not be fools.

Negro Eyed For Supreme Court

President Johnson has under consideration the appointment of Ramsey Clark to head the Department of Justice.

At present, the Texas lawyer, 38-year old son of Justice Tom Clark of the U.S. Supreme Court is serving as acting attorney general. This is logical because since 1965 he has been the No. 2 man in the department with the title of deputy attorney general.

He was chosen to take over the duties of Attorney General Katzenbach because the latter has just been transferred to the post of undersecretary of state.

If Ramsey Clark is nominated for attorney general, it is to be expected his father would retire.

Approximately 95 per cent of the cases that come before the high court are argued by Department of Justice lawyers under the direction of the attorney general. It has been assumed that no member of the supreme court would wish to pass judgment on cases in which a blood relative had participated.

A "conflict of interest" could cause Justice Clark, aged 67, to leave the bench, and it is surmised that he probably would be glad to do so, because it would mean a promotion to the cabinet for his son.

WHAT WOULD President Johnson do about a vacancy in the Supreme Court.

There is considerable speculation that he might appoint Thurgood Marshall, solicitor general of the Department of Justice, a post to which he was appointed by President Johnson last year.

Mr. Marshall had previously served as a judge on the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, to which he was named by President Kennedy in 1961.

Prior to that time he was the special counsel of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and argued de segregation cases before the high court.

If Mr. Marshall were nominated, he would be the first Negro to serve on the highest court. A Negro has been appointed to the President's Cabinet already, and there are Negro judges on lower courts.

While politically it may seem important to give representation to persons of particular religious or ethnic or racial categories, President Truman had a different idea when he elevated his attorney general, Tom Clark, instead of selecting a Catholic to succeed Justice Frank Murphy in 1949.

There was criticism at the time, and Mr. Truman is reported to have told close friends in Congress that he believed it was better for the country if the best qualified man were chosen, irrespective of whether a larger or smaller number of persons of one faith or none of a particular religion would then be on the high court.

WHETHER MR. MARSHALL is the man best qualified to be appointed when the next Supreme Court vacancy occurs will be argued with considerable vehemence by many lawyers who can cite as more capable certain judges at present serving in the lower courts.

There is some feeling, too, that if race or religion is a factor, the question of discrimination in failing to appoint a woman justice during the last 178 years is pertinent. Speaking of political rewards, there are more women than men aged 21 or over and could form the largest single group of voters.

If a vacancy occurs, it is not expected until after the election. It isn't likely that any development such as the choice of a Negro for the high court would happen during the congressional campaign.

With all the talk of a "backlash" vote and the growing controversy over interpretation of the Constitution, it seems improbably that an unnecessary issue at this time would be injected into the campaign.

Many people feel that a Negro should be appointed to the Supreme Court or elected to the presidency only if he or she happens to be better qualified than anybody else in the country.

Kind Of An Academic Question

Backing and filling, hemming and hawing, attacking and counterattacking over restraints and pretrial reporting about pending criminal cases are exciting to talk about.

But when talking slows down and thinking speeds up, they are a monumental tribute to the art of wasting time.

No one can put any restraints on newspapers. Freedom of the press is a constitutional guarantee.

It is not something newspapers are permitted to do. It is something no one can forbid them to do.

The legal profession could try to lay restraints on what its own members are permitted to say about pending criminal cases (which is where newspapers that go in for sensational stories get their material). But that would last no longer than it would take the first restraint-breaker to engage in "unethical" behavior.

We do not believe the legal profession can control its own members in a situation like this.

We know for a fact no one can tell newspapers what they can print about criminal cases before they come to trial.

Newspapers hold no brief for papers that turn pending criminal cases into circuses. Newspapers do hold a brief for the guarantee that laws abridging freedom of the press are unconstitutional. That is fundamental law.

In view of the fact the legal profession could not discipline all lawyers and it would be unconstitutional to abridge freedom of the press, discussion of restraints on pre-trial publicity about pending criminal cases in a waste of time.

Search For Freedom

East Germans are using a new tactic in the campaign to prevent escapes to the West.

Concrete-lined trenches five feet wide and up to six and a half feet deep are being installed to stop fleeing refugees crossing the border into Lower Saxony.

This is in addition to existing paralleling strips of barbed wire, mine traps and border towers equipped with floodlights and machine-guns.

An increase in the number of refugees slipping into the German state between East Germany and the Netherlands precipitated the latest project.

Significantly, two young East Germans already have managed to escape across the newly reinforced area.

A pointed illustration that neither barriers nor bullets can stop man's eternal search for freedom.

Our Ally 'Down Under'

Australian elections next month could rob the United States of its staunchest ally in the Viet Nam war.

The Liberal party has governed the nation in a coalition with the Country party since December 1949.

Most observers expect the Liberal-led coalition to maintain control. But no one is certain how much the election will be affected by the domestic controversy in Australia over the war.

The Labor party strongly opposed the sending of 4,500 Aussie troops to Viet Nam and has gained support in intellectual ranks.

Opinion polls indicate about 75 per cent support for government policy. But even among that 75 per cent, many oppose sending draftees to fight in Southeast Asia.

This opposition gives the Labor party an outside chance in the Nov. 26 election.

The loss of Australia as an ally in the Viet Nam morass would be tragic, but should it touch off an economic split between the two nations, shock waves would be felt by other have-not countries.

Australia's economy has flourished since the end of World War II.

Recent discoveries of vast deposits of minerals have been made in several sparsely settled regions anl farming regions are a magnet for immigrants.

But Australia needs foreign capital to develop these resources. The United States is a principal source of development funds.

U.S. Ambassador Edward Clark suggested recently the two countries might form an economic partnership some day that could turn Australia's huge underpopulated north into one of the world's greatest food-producing areas.

A 'Wretched Record'

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

An undertaker isn't necessarily the right man for a chicken farm, particularly if his idea of raising chickens is to beat them with a stick and scare them with a fog horn.

Mao Tse-tung, 72, who buried ancient China, is using a stick and a horn on the modern Chinese, and making a mess of it, even though right now they sound as docile as chickens trying to say yes.

This month the Red Chinese celebrated the 17th anniversary of the Mao-led revolution which captured all mainland China for communism. Without question he is one of the supreme revolutionary leaders and guerrilla fighters.

His regime unified a chaotic and impoverished country. But then he had the task of taking it into the 20th century as fast as possible, with all that meant in industrialization and everything else.

THIS IS where he revealed, despite himself, that an undertaker may not be a good chicken farmer, that a great revolutionary leader may be out of place trying to guide and run a country which needs to organize itself.

Many Chinese, judging from the repeated purges of his critics, seem to realize his deficiency, but their voices have been hushed with terror. Yet his terror tactics seem to say he has the same realization himself.

As an authoritarian most of his life, perhaps in part the upside-down product of his resentment against his stern father, it is not hard to see why he would try to destroy and dissent.

It would jeopardize his dream of China as he thinks it ought to be and challenge his rightness and fitness for his present role of omniscient partriach. If dissent prevailed, it would diminish his place in history.

Yet he can't escape the realization, since he saw it happen with Stalin, that the ideas of yesterday's leader may prove out of date tomorrow. Mao is trying to make yesterday last forever. He is having himself deified.

The result: The Chinese people are being clubbed into iron conformity and into subservience to him, his sayings have become the Chinese bible, all criticism is being rendered impossible and the sanctity of Mao is being shouted into their skulls.

He knows well the tradition of the cunning Chinese superman and demonstrated it in 1956 when, to find his hidden or potential critics, he conned them into coming out in the open.

"Let a hundred flowers bloom," he said, "let a hundred schools of thought contend." With this assurance, the critics opened up, and he crushed them.

IN 1958 he showed his inadequacy as a peacetime leader when, with the "great leap forward," he plunged headlong into his greatest disaster. The "leap" was supposed to modernize China in a hurry.

Agriculture — thanks, also, to bad weather — collapsed, food was rationed and farmers and workers, driven beyond endurance by malnutrition, became apathetic. By 1960 the "leap" was abandoned.

Meanwhile, through clumsiness, stupidity and cupidity, Red China's foreign relations became a disaster, too. Most Communist countries were alienated or made hostile. Relations with India were ruined because of China's impatience for expansion. And China lost ground in one backward country after another.

This is a wretched record but, since Mao has the army behind him, the critics among the Chinese people can do nothing. And now, as he advances into old age, Mao is more obsessed than ever with fear of new and different voices.

He is using the Red Guard — multitudes of youthful hooligans with license for brutality — to beat and cow any who are not already in abject conformity.

Call Me 'Browser'

By Truman Twill

I don't know how it started, but the word "browse" puts me on edge.

The thought of "browsing around" and "browsing about" leaves me cold. It offends my sense of propriety.

It has something to do with nibbling.

Browsers are nibblers and vice versa. Herbivorous animals browse and nibble.

I am not a herbivorous animal and that is why I am offended by a figure of speech that lines me up with sheep, goats, rabbits, horses, cattle and other browsers.

Yet the plain truth is I enjoy commercial "browsing," in the sense that I like to look at everything and never buy anything.

My special delight is browsing through display advertising — the kind to be found in the slicks, where the art work is de luxe and the pitch is made to an affluent society I am not acquainted with.

I spend hours leafing through these magazines —nibbling on the attractions displayed in their numerous pages.

The New Yorker is my special delight, because its advertising is aimed at the super-affluent. Where else could an American peasant feast his eyes on baubles of jewelry costing thousands of dollars, on Rolls Royces, Jaguars and the incredible trinkets offered by Abercrombie & Fitch?

Hanging Fire Since 1956

Land Tangle Faced Anew By Council At Wellsville

Wellsville Council again is faced with a legal dilemma which has been hanging fire since 1956.

It involves an apparent oversight which resulted in the sale of a tract of land in 1956 to Mrs. Hilda Moore — land which had been given to the city originally in 1936 by the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. on the condition it be used only in conjunction with a flood control program.

The land was purchased by Mrs. Moore for $3,100. Shortly after the transaction the city learned of its mistake and offered the Moores (Mr. Frank Moore died last year) the return of the purchase price.

The offer reportedly was refused, however, and Wellsville councils since then have been placing aside $3,100 each year in the event the owners would reconsider.

The matter came up again Tuesday night when Mayor William Daugherty informed Council of receipt of a communication from Mrs. Moore's attorney calling for refund of the $3,100 along with accrued interest of 4½ per cent and $25 in legal fees.

The plot, so to speak, thickened in 1959 when Wellsville agreed to a proposal by the federal government to take a tract of river - front land, the Moore property included as part of additional flood control acquisitions, with the city to receive $400 for the land.

During the last several years, the federal government has been asking the city to sign a clear title to the lands already taken. Government lawyers have indicated they are ready to begin formal legal action to get the warranty deed.

Adding to the clouded issue is a condition in the federal agreement with the city that the latter not build any buildings "of any description" on the disputed land. Wellsville has been contemplating the construction of a marina in the Yellow Creek area.

Solicitor Delmar T. O'Hara recommended last night Council not sign the title the government is requesting, feeling it would be an unwise move considering the entire issue is uncertain so far as legal ownership of the land.

In other business, a letter was read by the Mayor informing council that James Morrissey, director of regional planning for Columbiana County, will join Christian Hogenbirk, director of the Department of Development of the state of Ohio, for a meeting with the Mayor next Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. to discuss the "comprehensive planning" necessary to meet federal requirements for funds for a low-cost housing development.

Daugherty said he acquired considerable information on a recent trip to Chicago and asked council to meet with him next Tuesday for a discussion on housing, the highway situation and other matters. Council approved the meeting.

The mayor also in his letter to council outlined a plan to convert property between 3rd and 4th Sts. on Riverside Ave., into off - street parking facilities.

The matter was referred to the Street and Light Committee.

The mayor's monthly report totaling expenditures of $655.90 was approved.

Council received a request for cutting the curb on 9th St. and referred the matter to committee. The question of holiday pay remuneration for fire and police workers was discussed and a formula for computing the pay was left for further consideration.

The legislators pointed out that the stop sign on 18th St. and Main is there for the protection of school children crossing at the intersection and will remain.

President Allen Baldwin presided.

Russ Keefer and Glenn Mathess were absent.

The invocation was given by the Rev. Clark Allison.

McNamara and other defense officials said at a Pentagon briefing that a strike would threaten seriously the flow of military hardware to U.S. fighting men in Viet Nam. He said this included engines for jet fighters and helicopters, radar and other electronic equipment, bomb sights and aircraft weapons.

Both sides agreed to a two-week extension of present contract terms, beginning at 12:01 a.m. last Monday, so federal officials could try to steer the talks to a settlement.

General Electric has offered a three-year contract with wage hikes of 4 per cent the first year and 3 per cent each in the second and third years, additional increases for higher skilled employes, 6 cents in cost-of-living raises over the three years and pension and insurance improvements.

The firm offered an additional 3-cent cost-of-living raise if the union agreed to a 42-month contract.

charge, Freeman's plea of not guilty and the testimony and exhibits. "What happens to this defendant after the verdict is not your concern, but the concern of the court," he explained. "No, you cannot recommend clemency."

Fifteen minutes later the jury returned with the verdict. Freeman did not take the stand during trial to answer the charge that he broke into Gus Raimond's shoe repair shop on Broadway last May 10. Testimony was that he took $11.60 from the cash register.

After the jury was excused, Freeman told the court he does not intend to appeal and requested probation.

Judge Buzzard ordered a presentence investigation and report, but told Freeman his previous record of felonies will have to be considered. Freeman was released under $1,000 bond.

Costs Assessed On Defendant In City Permit Case

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today assessed court costs on Herman Hoppel of Valley Dr., accused of tapping into a city sanitary sewer on S. Shady Ln. Dr., Fisher Park, without first obtaining a municipal permit.

The judge told Hoppel to pay the costs after dismissing the affidavit on recommendation of Richard J. Clark, assistant city solicitor. The charge was filed Tuesday by Marvin E. Wooley, assistant city engineer, alleging that Hoppel made the sewer tap about July 1. The judge also instructed Hoppel to obtain the required city permit, for which the fee is $1.

Hoppel and his counsel, Charles Lang, told the court a change in procedure led to the defendant's failure to obtain a permit. They told the court the former assistant city engineer, the late Harold Cartwright, made it a practice to collect the fee when inspecting a job site, obtain the permit at City Hall and return it to the contractor. Hoppel indicated he forgot about the permit when no one appeared to collect the fee.

The judge commented the City Code places the burden upon the builder to make certain he obtains the proper permit. The builder cannot rely on a city employe to appear on the scene and collect the fee, he said.

Hanging Fire Since 1956

Land Tangle Faced Anew By Council At Wellsville

Wellsville Council again is faced with a legal dilemma which has been hanging fire since 1956.

It involves an apparent oversight which resulted in the sale of a tract of land in 1956 to Mrs. Hilda Moore — land which had been given to the city originally in 1936 by the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. on the condition it be used only in conjunction with a flood control program.

The land was purchased by Mrs. Moore for $3,100. Shortly after the transaction the city learned of its mistake and offered the Moores (Mr. Frank Moore died last year) the return of the purchase price.

The offer reportedly was refused, however, and Wellsville councils since then have been placing aside $3,100 each year in the event the owners would reconsider.

The matter came up again Tuesday night when Mayor William Daugherty informed Council of receipt of a communication from Mrs. Moore's attorney calling for refund of the $3,100 along with accrued interest of 4½ per cent and $25 in legal fees.

The plot, so to speak, thickened in 1959 when Wellsville agreed to a proposal by the federal government to take a tract of river - front land, the Moore property included as part of additional flood control acquisitions, with the city to receive $400 for the land.

During the last several years, the federal government has been asking the city to sign a clear title to the lands already taken. Government lawyers have indicated they are ready to begin formal legal action to get the warranty deed.

Adding to the clouded issue is a condition in the federal agreement with the city that the latter not build any buildings "of any description" on the disputed land. Wellsville has been contemplating the construction of a marina in the Yellow Creek area.

Solicitor Delmar T. O'Hara recommended last night Council not sign the title the government is requesting, feeling it would be an unwise move considering the entire issue is uncertain so far as legal ownership of the land.

In other business, a letter was read by the Mayor informing council that James Morrissey, director of regional planning for Columbiana County, will join Christian Hogenbirk, director of the Department of Development of the state of Ohio, for a meeting with the Mayor next Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. to discuss the "comprehensive planning" necessary to meet federal requirements for funds for a low-cost housing development.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Most people hesitate to put reflector tape on the outside of their cars.

For safety's sake, I suggest they place a large "X" of reflector tape across the inside of the trunk lid and inside the hood.

When you lift the trunk and hood, the strips of tape can be seen for miles from either direction. It might come in handy if stranded on a highway some dark night.

MRS. G.A.E.

DEAR HELOISE: I live in a climate where there's much dampness. I have learned to put about six thicknesses of newspaper between the mattress and coil springs of the bed.

This is great for absorbing some of the excess moisture caused by high humidity, and helps keep the dampness out of the mattress and bed clothes.

SELMA SCOTTEN.

Yes, this does work. I also have found that if you line closet shelves with six or eight folded pieces of newspaper, it will help absorbe the moisture in your closets.

It's great if you keep your shoes on the self.

When it comes time to clean out your closet, all you have to do is replace the old newspapers.

HELOISE.

-:-

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise: Honestly, it seems you spent 24 hours a day saving time.

Don't you ever go on a fling, and throw away a little-left-over grease or buy ready - made dishrags?

F.C.

Dear Heloise: For those who enjoy fried mush . . .

Tear open the top of an empty, quart milk carton (plastic coated), wash and rinse well.

Then pour in hot cornmeal mush. Let cool.

Turn the carton upside down, give a few taps and the mush slides out easily, well-formed and ready for slicing to fry.

VIVIAN GREY.

Dear Heloise:: When my 11-month-old daughter discovered she could bite things, she put a nice big hole in the plastic-covered back of her high chair.

I thought I could mend it with plastic mending tape, but she bit it off the same day!

I had a new aqua chenille seat cover, the same color as the high chair. I put it on, tied the strings and it worked nicely.

It also makes extra padding for baby's back.

For a very small baby just starting to sit in the high chair, you could put a piece of half-inch-thick foam right inside this, draw and tie the strings and have a very nice, inexpensive high chair pad.

MRS. DONALD FALCONER.

Dear Heloise: To prevent soiling the carpet when small children eat, put down a large bath towel.

After a meal it's simple to shake the towel or rinse it out if there were any spills.

GRANDMA.

Dear Heloise: When I cut a milk carton to use while picking up small items, odds and ends, and even for emptying the ash trays . . . I cut only three-fourths of the way around the carton, leaving the top and bottom hinged together.

One side holds the ashes and the other side holds the cloth for wiping out the ash tray.

No more messy hands or ash trays. Easy to carry and readily disposable.

MRS. W.H.W.

Humphrey Calls For Drive To End Police-Negro Crisis

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey called today for a campaign to end "a crisis of confidence" between police and Negro slum-dwellers.

"It must be overcome," the vice president said.

Tackling the questions of crime and violence which Republicans said Monday are a major campaign issue, Humphrey said the Democrats have begun programs to root out the social and economic causes of crime and to help police enforce the laws.

In a speech prepared for the annual convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, Humphrey suggested that more states start programs to help local governments finance police training.

In the slums, he said, friction between police and Negroes "finds natural allies too often viewing each other as potential enemies.

"No one in America needs the police more than our citizens who live in slum neighborhoods," Humphrey said. "No one is more victimized by criminal acts."

Humphrey said police departments must demonstrate to the law-abiding majority that policemen are on their side, and serve all citizens with respect and equality.

He suggested that police take more active part in human relations and community service activities and said they should be given time to explain their work in schools. And he said police could become more active in interracial community relations groups.

France Ends Current Series Of A-Tests

PARIS (AP) — France has ended its current series of atomic tests in the South Pacific with the explosion Tuesday of a fifth atomic device, the Defense Ministry says.

The plutonium-doped experimental device was set off over the testing grounds at Mururoa Lagoon near Tahiti. There was no immediate indication of the size of the blast.

It was the second test of an instrument containing plutonium during the current series, the Defense Ministry said. Addition of plutonium gives more power to an atomic blast, but France does not have sufficient quantities of enriched uranium to produce a thermonuclear or hydrogen bomb yet.

Adenauer Again Fails In Bid To Oust Erhard

BONN, Germany (AP) — Former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer failed Tuesday in another attempt to oust Chancellor Ludwig Erhard.

Members of their Christian Democratic party in the Bundestag voted overwhelmingly for Erhard to continue as West Germany's leader.

Adenauer, who was succeeded by Erhard, came out publicly Sunday in favor of replacing Erhard with Eugen Gerstenmaier, the Bundestag president. The former chancellor has been a persistent critic of Erhard.

Killed In Collision

ROME (AP) — Guendaline Carol Lopez, 47, stepmother of Lord Snowdon, husband of Princess Margaret of Britain, was killed Tuesday night in a car collision which took the lives of four other persons. Mrs. Lopez was a former wife of Ronald Armstrong Jones, father of Lord Snowdon.

Court Okays Pennsy, NYC Merger, 2-1

NEW YORK (AP) — A special three-judge federal court, in a 2-1 decision, has given its assent to the merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads. The merged line would be the largest in the nation.

In granting the go-ahead Tuesday the court, however, gave nine smaller roads, headed Friday to file notice of appeal.

A spokesman for the Erie declined comment, but many observers believe that the Erie will seek a review of the decision from Supreme Court Justice John M. Harlan, in charge by the Erie-Lackawanna, until of affairs in the New York area.

The merger — which would link Pennsylvania and Central trackage along a 20,000-mile stretch, from the East Coast to St. Louis — could take place by Nov. 1. It had been scheduled for Sept. 30, but was deferred by the three-man court.

Directors of the two lines announced plans and hopes for their merger four years ago and later won approval from the Interstate Commerce Commission.

None of the plaintiff railroads is opposed in principle to the merger but have said that first they wanted the ICC to work out an indemnification plan for losses which might result.

The Pennsylvania, founded in 1846, currently is the largest rail line in the United States. The Central, founded in 1853, ranks third.

The railroad plaintiffs, in addition to the Erie-Lackawanna, are the Boston & Maine, Delaware & Hudson, Reading, Jersey Central, Western Maryland, Chesapeake & Ohio, Baltimore & Ohio, and Norfolk & Western.

Lausche And Young Vote Opposite Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio's U.S. senators, Democrats Frank J. Lausche and Stephen M. Young, disagreed Tuesday in a roll call vote that cut the Senate's antipoverty authorization bill from $2.5 billion to $1.75 billion.

Lausche voted for the amendment, Young against it. Twenty-three Democrats joined 22 Republicans to pass the amendment 45-27.

Cloud Proposes State Transportation Group

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Auditor Roger Cloud has proposed that the Ohio Legislature create a state department of transportation.

Cloud made the proposal in a statement Tuesday, suggesting that the department's jurisdiction should cover "air, water, highways and mass transit . . . but should not include the general governmental regulatory activities in these fields."

Young Serviceman Has Spinal Meningitis

YOUNGSTOWN (AP) — A young serviceman on leave from Ft. Benning, Ga., has been hospitalized at North Side Hospital with a case of contagious spinal meningitis, it was learned Tuesday.

Court Okays Pennsy, NYC Merger, 2-1

NEW YORK (AP) — A special three-judge federal court, in a 2-1 decision, has given its assent to the merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads. The merged line would be the largest in the nation.

In granting the go-ahead Tuesday the court, however, gave nine smaller roads, headed Friday to file notice of appeal.

A spokesman for the Erie declined comment, but many observers believe that the Erie will seek a review of the decision from Supreme Court Justice John M. Harlan, in charge by the Erie-Lackawanna, until of affairs in the New York area.

The merger — which would link Pennsylvania and Central trackage along a 20,000-mile stretch, from the East Coast to St. Louis — could take place by Nov. 1. It had been scheduled for Sept. 30, but was deferred by the three-man court.

Directors of the two lines announced plans and hopes for their merger four years ago and later won approval from the Interstate Commerce Commission.

None of the plaintiff railroads is opposed in principle to the merger but have said that first they wanted the ICC to work out an indemnification plan for losses which might result.

The Pennsylvania, founded in 1846, currently is the largest rail line in the United States. The Central, founded in 1853, ranks third.

The railroad plaintiffs, in addition to the Erie-Lackawanna, are the Boston & Maine, Delaware & Hudson, Reading, Jersey Central, Western Maryland, Chesapeake & Ohio, Baltimore & Ohio, and Norfolk & Western.

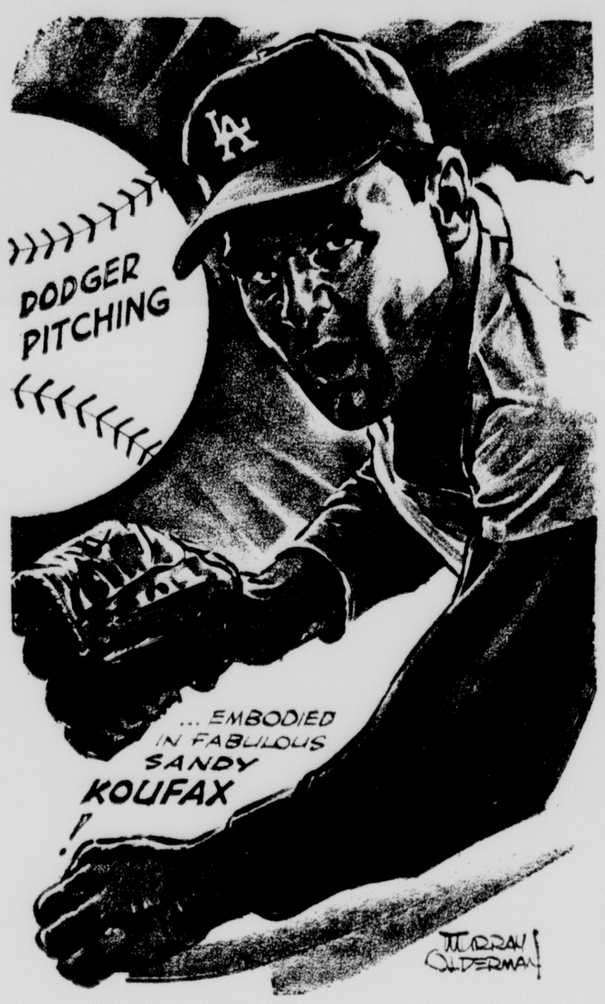
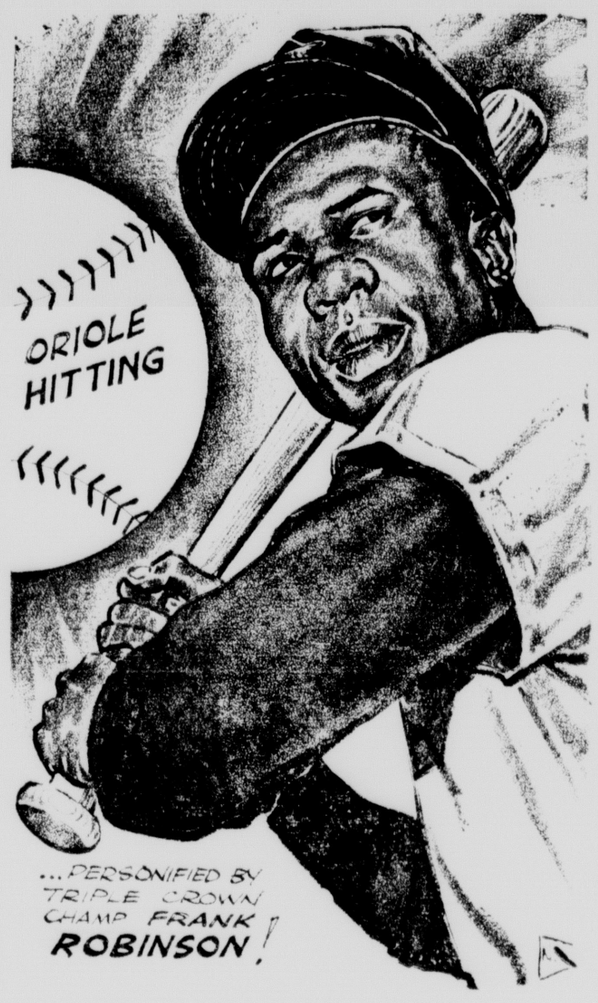
Dodgers Put Pitching, Speed Against Orioles' Hitting





By MIKE RATHET

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Big Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Baltimore's young Dave McNally were on the mound and catcher Andy Etchebarren was on the lookout for Maury Wills as the World Series opened today.

A sellout crowd of 55,000 began filing into Dodgers Stadium early for the 4 p.m., EDT, start of the Series that is expected to be a classic match-up of Dodger pitching and speed vs. Oriole power.

Both Etchebarren, the Orioles' rookie catcher, and Wills, the Dodger shortstop, were well aware that the entire battle could revolve around Baltimore's ability to control the Dodgers on the bases — something Minnesota couldn't do at Dodger Stadium last year.

"I'm looking for Wills and Davis (outfielder Willie Davis) to try and do a lot of running," Etchebarren said.

Etchebarren said the Orioles had paid particular attention to that facet of the game the last weeks of the season.

"We've been working on it the last two weeks," he said. "We've also worked on a few more pickoff plays."

Meanwhile, Wills inferred that the Dodgers would test Etchebarren early because he is a rookie.

"You'd have to consider that," Wills said. "A thing like that shouldn't go untried."

Wills explained that the Dodgers "don't go out there and run blindly," but try to force the other club back to fundamentals.

The Dodgers' ability to put the squeeze on with speed is one of the major reasons Manager Hank Bauer of the Orioles tapped McNally for the opening assignment. A left-hander, McNally would be more effective in holding the Dodgers on base.

Dodger Manager Walt Alston would have preferred to open with his 27-game winner, Sandy Koufax, but had to switch to Drysdale when Koufax was forced to pitch the full nine innings in the pennant-clincher at Philadelphia last Sunday.

As the rotation now stands, Drysdale, 13-16, will be followed to the mound by Koufax, 27-9, and Claude Osteen, 17-14. Jim Palmer, 15-10, and Wally Bunker, 10-6, will follow McNally, 13-6. Osteen and Bunker hook up in Baltimore Saturday when the scene shifts to the American League city.

The Dodgers remained the 8-5 choice because of their pitching and speed. Alston's pitching staff has a 2.63 earned run average and 52 complete games compared with a 3.35 ERA and 23 complete games for the Orioles.

But Bauer has the bombers, particularly Frank Robinson, who became the first player in a decade to win batting's triple crown by leading the league with a .316 batting average, 49 homers and 122 runs batted in.

Over-all, The Orioles have hit .259 with 175 homers to .256 for the Dodgers, who have only 108 homers.

Drysdale To Face McNally Today

The Review Sports

McNally Turned Down LA Bonus

By GORDON BEARD

LOS ANGELES (AP)— The Los Angeles Dodgers, who lost in the bonus bidding for Dave McNally six years ago, face the young Baltimore Orioles' left-hander today in the opening game of the 1966 World Series.

Although he has been with the Orioles four years and helped them to the American League pennant this season with a 13-6 record, McNally is a virtual unknown when compared with Los Angeles starter Don Drysdale.

"I'm probably the most unsuccessful pitcher ever to start a World Series opener," McNally said on the eve of his big challenge. "But that doesn't matter. When you go out on the field, you either do or don't."

McNally has understated his own case somewhat. Although he completed only five games, McNally kept the Orioles close in contests and Baltimore was 22-11 in games he started.

"Drysdale certainly has earned his reputation," McNally said. "But he's lost a lot of games, too. We're not scared of him."

McNally has come along steadily since turning down an $85,000 bonus offer from the Dodgers in 1960 and signing with Baltimore for $5,000 less.

The 23-year-old left - hander said Oriole scouts Jim Russo and Jim Wilson sold him on the Baltimore youth movement, and a lawyer friend told him the extra $5,000 would mean little difference after taxes.

McNally shared almost half of his bonus money with his mother, Mrs. Beth McNally of Billings, Mont., and began an investment program for himself. His father was killed on Okinawa during World War II, leaving three older children besides Dave.

Lou Gorman, farm director of the Orioles, describes McNally as "even-tempered, not easily ruffled and a quiet competitor—the perfect make-up for a pitcher."

Michigan State Picked To Defeat Wolverines

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP) — There are more ups and downs in college football than there are in a Wall Street stock report.

Last week's wanderings on the rim of Upset Gulch brought a meager .709 picking average and dropped the season's figures to .726.

Michigan State over Michigan: Bubba Smith, Michigan State's defensive end, is 6-7 and 265 pounds. At that size he is big enough to be both the Smith Brothers and make the Wolverines cough up that ball.

UCLA over Rice: Gary Beban and his rugged playmates make the Rice Owls say "Who?"

Notre Dame over Army: The surprising Cadets have allowed only one touchdown in their first three games but Notre Dame is in a different league. The Irish to get at least three TDs.

Alabama over Clemson: The Crimson Tide has both an offense and a defense.

Arkansas over Baylor: Each team has a top flight quarterback but Jon Brittenum of the Porkers has more able helpers.

Southern California over Washington: The Trojan defense will be stacked to stop the running of Don Moore and the plunging of Jeff Jordan.

Nebraska over Wisconsin: One of the poorest Wisconsin teams of recent years collides with one of Nebraska's best.

Ohio State over Illinois: If you don't have courage, don't bet on this one.

Tennessee over Georgia Tech: For the fourth straight week the TV fans will watch a pair of unbeaten teams. The Tennessee defense, which hasn't yet allowed a touchdown, to melt the effectiveness of Lenny Snow.

Florida over Florida State: Steve Spurrier will find his targets often enough to pull it out although this meeting is more than a game for Florida State.

Dartmouth over Princeton: For years this meeting ended the Ivy League season but here it is on World Series Saturday, with Dartmouth the host. That makes it even tougher for Princeton.

Texas over Oklahoma: The annual Dallas battle. Super Bill Bradley, the young Texas quarterback is out with an injury, but sophomore Andy White, who completed six of eight passes last week, is expected to be a capable replacement.

Cincinnati over Xavier, Dayton over Louisville, Miami (Ohio) over Kent State, Ohio University over Toledo, Bowling Green over Western Michigan.

Young Has Big Night

Wellsville Back Takes 2nd Place In District Scoring

Wellsville halfback Jack Young, who wasn't even listed as one of the district's top scorers last week, suddenly jumped into second place this week after a stunning 26-point performance last Friday night.

Midland's Rich Mahurt who punched over two touchdowns in his team's fourth straight victory continued to lead the local point parade with 36 points.

Young now shows five touchdowns and one conversion for 32 points to claim second place but is followed closely by Stanton Local's Elmer Tice with 30 points.

Young's effort came in Wellsville's 42-14 win over Southern Local and was the only new member among the top scorers.

Midland and Stanton Local continued to lead in team standings with perfect 4-0 marks while three teams, East Liverpool, East Palestine and Columbiana are next in line with 3-1 marks.

South Side, winless until last week, gained the victory column leaving only Crestview without a victory as season heads towards the halfway mark.

NFL Player Honors Won By Stallings

By The Associated Press

Larry Stallings backs up the left side of the St. Louis Cardinals' defensive line and with most pro clubs running to the right, his job is one of the keys to a successful defense.

With the Cardinals unbeaten after four games and leading the Eastern Division of the National Football League, Stallings' key has fit Coach Charley Winner's defensive lock perfectly.

Stallings gave a typical performance against Philadelphia in the Cardinals' 41-10 victory over the Eagles last Sunday and was named The Associated Press' NFL Defensive Player of the Week today.

Alston's Favorite 'Rookie' Jim Gilliam Starts Series

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)— There weren't any surprises in the Los Angeles Dodgers' starting lineup today when they took the field for the opening of the World Series with the Baltimore Orioles.

There was Capt. Maury Wills at shortstop, gimpy knee and all, and Manager Walton Alston's favorite "rookie," Jim Gilliam, who really isn't a rookie after all these years with the Dodgers at third base.

Taking the mound was 6-foot-6 Don Drysdale, hoping to get back on a winning habit which was interrupted rather unceremoniously after two innings at Philadelphia last Sunday.

"This is my last Series," said the 38-year-old Gilliam, who has retired and been unretired for the past several years. The Dodgers name Gilliam as a coach in the spring and by mid-April Gilliam is back playing third.

The Alston theory, which has worked for the past two years, is to play Jim for his bat in the early innings and, if the occasion warrants, replace him in the later innings by the brilliant defensive man, young John Kennedy.

Drysdale and company face at least one familiar man in the Orioles' Frank Robinson, the American League's slugging champion with a .316 average, 49 home runs and 122 runs batted in.

Drysdale, asked about Robinson in the Dodgers' final pre-Series workout, said he has great respect for him. Don, of course, pitched against Robinson when he was at Cincinnati.

Austin Says Steelers Will Upset Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Pittsburgh Steelers' Coach Bill Austin says his club will upset the Cleveland Browns Saturday night.

Austin made the prediction at a luncheon Tuesday in Pittsburgh on the basis of the Browns' slim 13-10 victory over the Steelers in Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 3.

The Steelers are in fourth place in the National Football League's Eastern Division with a 1-2-1 record while the Browns are tied with Washington and Philadelphia for third place, all with 2-2 marks.

The Browns are busy trying to cram an extra practice session into the short week because of Saturday's game.

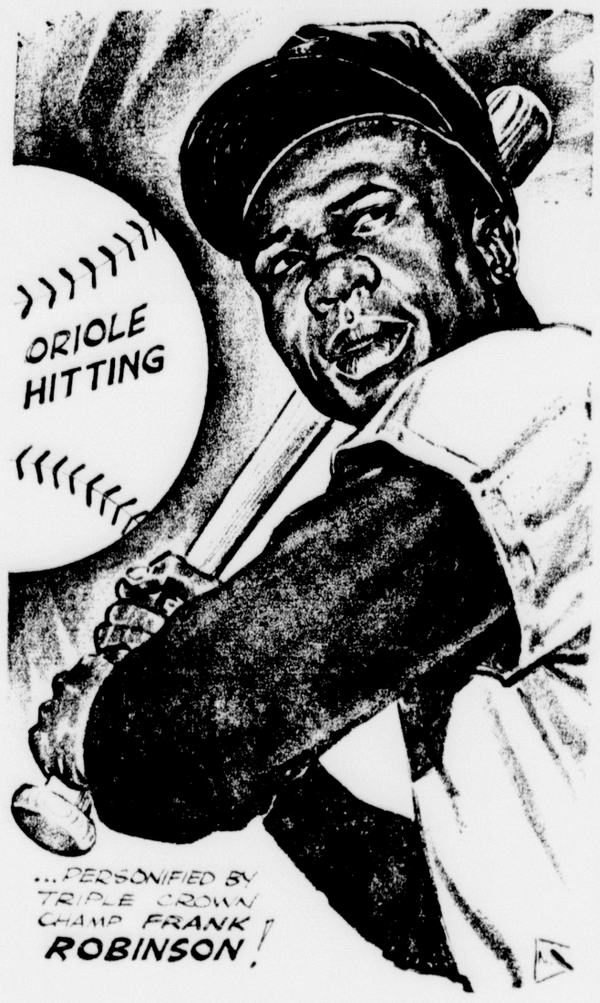
Dodgers Put Pitching, Speed Against Orioles' Hitting

THE CLASSIC TEST . .

. . . OF A FALL CLASSIC



By MIKE RATHET

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Big Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Baltimore's young Dave McNally were on the mound and catcher Andy Etchebarren was on the lookout for Maury Wills as the World Series opened today.

A sellout crowd of 55,000 began filing into Dodgers Stadium early for the 4 p.m., EDT, start of the Series that is expected to be a classic match-up of Dodger pitching and speed vs. Oriole power.

Both Etchebarren, the Orioles' rookie catcher, and Wills, the Dodger shortstop, were well aware that the entire battle could revolve around Baltimore's ability to control the Dodgers on the bases — something Minnesota couldn't do at Dodger Stadium last year.

"I'm looking for Wills and Davis (outfielder Willie Davis) to try and do a lot of running," Etchebarren said.

Etchebarren said the Orioles had paid particular attention to that facet of the game the last weeks of the season.

"We've been working on it the last two weeks," he said. "We've also worked on a few more pickoff plays."

Meanwhile, Wills inferred that the Dodgers would test Etchebarren early because he is a rookie.

"You'd have to consider that," Wills said. "A thing like that shouldn't go untried."

Wills explained that the Dodgers "don't go out there and run blindly," but try to force the other club back to fundamentals.

The Dodgers' ability to put the squeeze on with speed is one of the major reasons Manager Hank Bauer of the Orioles tapped McNally for the opening assignment. A left-hander, McNally would be more effective in holding the Dodgers on base.

Dodger Manager Walt Alston would have preferred to open with his 27-game winner, Sandy Koufax, but had to switch to Drysdale when Koufax was forced to pitch the full nine innings in the pennant-clincher at Philadelphia last Sunday.

As the rotation now stands, Drysdale, 13-16, will be followed to the mound by Koufax, 27-9, and Claude Osteen, 17-14. Jim Palmer, 15-10, and Wally Bunker, 10-6, will follow McNally, 13-6. Osteen and Bunker hook up in Baltimore Saturday when the scene shifts to the American League city.

The Dodgers remained the 3-5 choice because of their pitching and speed. Alston's pitching staff has a 2.63 earned run average and 52 complete games compared with a 3.35 ERA and 23 complete games for the Orioles.

But Bauer has the bombers, particularly Frank Robinson, who became the first player in a decade to win batting's triple crown by leading the league with a .316 batting average, 49 homers and 122 runs batted in.

Over-all, The Orioles have hit .259 with 175 homers to .256 for the Dodgers, who have only 108 homers.

Drysdale To Face McNally Today

McNally Turned Down LA Bonus

By GORDON BEARD

LOS ANGELES (AP)— The Los Angeles Dodgers, who lost in the bonus bidding for Dave McNally six years ago, face the young Baltimore Orioles' lefthander today in the opening game of the 1966 World Series.

Although he has been with the Orioles four years and helped them to the American League pennant this season with a 13-6 record, McNally is a virtual unknown when compared with Los Angeles starter Don Drysdale.

"I'm probably the most unsuccessful pitcher ever to start a World Series opener," McNally said on the eve of his big challenge. "But that doesn't matter. When you go out on the field, you either do or don't."

McNally has understated his own case somewhat. Although he completed only five games, McNally kept the Orioles close in contests and Baltimore was 22-11 in games he started.

"Drysdale certainly has earned his reputation," McNally said. "But he's lost a lot of games, too. We're not scared of him."

McNally has come along steadily since turning down an $85,000 bonus offer from the Dodgers in 1960 and signing with Baltimore for $5,000 less.

The 23-year-old left - hander said Oriole scouts Jim Russo and Jim Wilson sold him on the Baltimore youth movement, and a lawyer friend told him the extra $5,000 would mean little difference after taxes.

McNally shared almost half of his bonus money with his mother, Mrs. Beth McNally of Billings, Mont., and began an investment program for himself. His father was killed on Okinawa during World War II, leaving three older children besides Dave.

Lou Gorman, farm director of the Orioles, describes McNally as "even-tempered, not easily ruffled and a quiet competitor—the perfect make-up for a pitcher."

Michigan State Picked To Defeat Wolverines

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP) — There are more ups and downs in college football than there are in a Wall Street stock report.

Last week's wanderings on the rim of Upset Gulch brought a meager .709 picking average and dropped the season's figures to .726.

Michigan State over Michigan: Bubba Smith, Michigan State's defensive end, is 6-7 and 265 pounds. At that size he is big enough to be both the Smith Brothers and make the Wolverines cough up that ball.

UCLA over Rice: Gary Beban and his rugged playmates make the Rice Owls say "Who?"

Notre Dame over Army: The surprising Cadets have allowed only one touchdown in their first three games but Notre Dame is in a different league. The Irish to get at least three TDs.

Alabama over Clemson: The Crimson Tide has both an offense and a defense.

Arkansas over Baylor: Each team has a top flight quarterback but Jon Brittenum of the Porkers has more able helpers.

Southern California over Washington: The Trojan defense will be stacked to stop the running of Don Moore and the plunging of Jeff Jordan.

Nebraska over Wisconsin: One of the poorest Wisconsin teams of recent years collides with one of Nebraska's best.

Ohio State over Illinois: If you don't have courage, don't bet on this one.

Tennessee over Georgia Tech: For the fourth straight week the TV fans will watch a pair of unbeaten teams. The Tennessee defense, which hasn't yet allowed a touchdown, to melt the effectiveness of Lenny Snow.

Florida over Florida State: Steve Spurrier will find his targets often enough to pull it out although this meeting is more than a game for Florida State.

Dartmouth over Princeton: For years this meeting ended the Ivy League season but here it is on World Series Saturday, with Dartmouth the host. That makes it even tougher for Princeton.

Texas over Oklahoma: The annual Dallas battle. Super Bill Bradley, the young Texas quarterback is out with an injury, but sophomore Andy White, who completed six of eight passes last week, is expected to be a capable replacement.

Cincinnati over Xavier, Dayton over Louisville, Miami (Ohio) over Kent State, Ohio University over Toledo, Bowling Green over Western Michigan.

Young Has Big Night

Wellsville Back Takes 2nd Place In District Scoring

Wellsville halfback Jack Young, who wasn't even listed as one of the district's top scorers last week, suddenly jumped into second place this week after a stunning 26-point performance last Friday night.

Midland's Rich Mahurt who punched over two touchdowns in his team's fourth straight victory continued to lead the local point parade with 36 points.

Young now shows five touchdowns and one conversion for 32 points to claim second place but is followed closely by Stanton Local's Elmer Tice with 30 points.

Young's effort came in Wellsville's 42-14 win over Southern Local and was the only new member among the top scorers.

Midland and Stanton Local continued to lead in team standings with perfect 4-0 marks while three teams, East Liverpool, East Palestine and Columbiana are next in line with 3-1 marks.

South Side, winless until last week, gained the victory column leaving only Crestview without a victory as season heads towards the halfway mark.

Daily Double Was Once Abolished In New York

By TED MEIER

NEW YORK (AP) — Would you believe there was a time there was no daily double at New York's race tracks?

The Daily Double seems such an accepted practice at race tracks throughout the country these days it is hard to believe the DD was abolished at the New York thoroughbred ovals after the 1945 season and not restored until the start of the 1949 season.

The three-year banishment of the DD was recalled today in the wake of the abolishment of the Twin Double at Yonkers Raceway, a harness race track. The TD earlier had been dropped by the Atlantic City thoroughbred track which substituted the quinella form of betting on two races.

This form of betting, in which the bettor collects if he picks the first two horses to finish, either 1-2 or 2-1, proved such a success at the New Jersey seashore track that Garden State Park also will offer it at its fall meeting opening next Wednesday.

The 1946 New York Racing Commission report said the daily double was eliminated because it had "assumed the proportions of a gigantic numbers game with the form of horses concerned frequently completely overlooked."

The DD was reinstated in 1949 after a poll conducted by Opinion Research Corp. of Princeton, N.J., at the Empire City at Jamaica meeting in October, 1948, showed that of 1,264 personal interviews 81 per cent favored the return of the DD, eight per cent opposed it and 11 per cent were indifferent.

Far Western Gridders Top Statistic List

NEW YORK (AP) — The Far West has been far and away the most successful section in producing individual national leaders in major college football statistics this season.

Latest figures compiled by the NCAA Service Bureau showed today that Ray McDonald, Idaho fullback, is the pacesetter in rushing with 432 yards in 80 carries. Danny Holman of San Jose State is No. 1 in pass completions with 60 in 92 attempts.

Other players from Far Western schools at the head of their classes are Doug Flansburg of Washington State in pass receiving with 27 for 298 yards; Altie Taylor of Utah State, kickoff returns with 246 yards; California's Jerry Bradley, punt returns, 188 yards, and Wayne Stewart, also of California, in interceptions with 4 for 132 yards.

Hank Washington of West Texas State is the total offense leader with 859 yards.

Pitt Expecting Trouble With Mounties' Ford

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pitt expects to have its hands full Saturday containing the running of Garrett Ford of West Virginia according to the scouting report given to coach Dave Hart.

Dr. Darrell Lewis, former Pitt quarterback who scouted the Mountaineers told Hart Tuesday:

"You can stop him (Ford) six or seven times but the eighth he can go all the way."

Hart said Pitt will have its hands full in the game at Pitt Stadium with its traditional rival. "But one thing in our favor is that no team has thrown the long bomb or scored on a long run against us so far," he added.

Nevertheless, Pitt has yet to win a game.

Nicklaus 5-2 Favorite In Match Event

VIRGINIA WATER, England (AP) — Jack Nicklaus says he's out to prove the bookies are right by showing he's just as good a match player as a stroke player in golf.

"I must admit I'm playing pretty well," said Nicklaus after a practice round for the World Match Play Tournament Thursday over the Wenworth west course.

Nicklaus, reigning British Open champion, justified his favorite spot at 5 to 2 in the three-day tournament for prizes totaling $44,800.

Nicklaus has won the U.S. Open, Masters, the British Open and the Canada Cup individual title. All were based on stroke play.

There's only one of the eight men in this field who has a better record, defending champion Gary Player of South Africa.

The latest odds against Player winning are 5 to 1. Ahead of him are Nicklaus at 5 to 2, Arnold Palmer 7 to 2, and Billy Casper, the current U.S. Open champ, 4 to 1.

Daily Double Was Once Abolished In New York

By TED MEIER

NEW YORK (AP) — Would you believe there was a time there was no daily double at New York's race tracks?

The Daily Double seems such an accepted practice at race tracks throughout the country these days it is hard to believe the DD was abolished at the New York thoroughbred ovals after the 1945 season and not restored until the start of the 1949 season.

The three-year banishment of the DD was recalled today in the wake of the abolishment of the Twin Double at Yonkers Raceway, a harness race track. The TD earlier had been dropped by the Atlantic City thoroughbred track which substituted the quinella form of betting on two races.

This form of betting, in which the bettor collects if he picks the first two horses to finish, either 1-2 or 2-1, proved such a success at the New Jersey seashore track that Garden State Park also will offer it at its fall meeting opening next Wednesday.

The 1946 New York Racing Commission report said the daily double was eliminated because it had "assumed the proportions of a gigantic numbers game with the form of horses concerned frequently completely overlooked."

The DD was reinstated in 1949 after a poll conducted by Opinion Research Corp. of Princeton, N.J., at the Empire City at Jamaica meeting in October, 1948, showed that of 1,264 personal interviews 81 per cent favored the return of the DD, eight per cent opposed it and 11 per cent were indifferent.

Far Western Gridders Top Statistic List

NEW YORK (AP) — The Far West has been far and away the most successful section in producing individual national leaders in major college football statistics this season.

Latest figures compiled by the NCAA Service Bureau showed today that Ray McDonald, Idaho fullback, is the pacesetter in rushing with 432 yards in 80 carries. Danny Holman of San Jose State is No. 1 in pass completions with 60 in 92 attempts.

Other players from Far Western schools at the head of their classes are Doug Flansburg of Washington State in pass receiving with 27 for 298 yards; Altie Taylor of Utah State, kickoff returns with 246 yards; California's Jerry Bradley, punt returns, 188 yards, and Wayne Stewart, also of California, in interceptions with 4 for 132 yards.

Hank Washington of West Texas State is the total offense leader with 859 yards.

Pitt Expecting Trouble With Mounties' Ford

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pitt expects to have its hands full Saturday containing the running of Garrett Ford of West Virginia according to the scouting report given to coach Dave Hart.

Dr. Darrell Lewis, former Pitt quarterback who scouted the Mountaineers told Hart Tuesday:

"You can stop him (Ford) six or seven times but the eighth he can go all the way."

Hart said Pitt will have its hands full in the game at Pitt Stadium with its traditional rival. "But one thing in our favor is that no team has thrown the long bomb or scored on a long run against us so far," he added.

Nevertheless, Pitt has yet to win a game.

Toledo, Ohio U. Clash In Key League Contest

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—You can't blame Frank X. Lauterbur for being a bit reluctant about taking his Toledo football team to Athens Saturday.

Ohio University, after two consecutive surprise victories and getting stronger each week, plays its first home game against the Rockets.

"They may be looking for us," Lauterbur noted. "I know they will be sky high after beating Kent on the road."

The popular Toledo coach feels there's a great deal of significance attached to the game.

"Both of us are in a position where the game is a key one. The team that gets the decision will have the momentum to stay in the race."

The winner of the Toledo (1-0)-Ohio U. (1-0) skirmish is likely to challenge favored Miami (1-0) and strong Bowling Green (0-0) for the Mid-American Conference championship.

Other top attractions in the league Saturday find Kent State (0-1) at Miami and Bowling Green at Western Michigan (0-1).

Marshall, 0 - 1 in the loop, plays the Quantico Marines on the road.

Toledo has only won once at Athens since 1951, that one a 19-13 decision in 1956.

That little statistic may be adding to Lauterbur's concern.

"Ohio has a lot of things going for it," he said. "Bill Hess is a real sound, fundamental coach. And the Bobcats have a versatile attack with Ron DeLucca passing and Wash Lyons and Bob Houmard running."

Lauterbur said his sophomore fullback Bob Pfefferle has been a pleasant surprise and has put some punch in the attack.

Pfefferle has gained 234 yards in three games and averaged 7.1 yards a crack.

Coach Leo Strang's Golden Flashes will be trying to rebound against a hot Miami club that owns the nation's longest winning streak at nine.

Kent whipped the Redskins 24-13 a year ago.

Vanlier Scored One Of Midland's TD's

Halfback Dave Vanlier scored one of Midland's touchdowns in the 26-0 victory over Burgettstown last Friday night. It was reported incorrectly that Jim Smith had scored two touchdowns. Smith and Vanlier scored one each.

Bowling Green, OU Stars Gain Top Honors

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Big Stew Williams, who led Bowling Green to a 13-0 victory over Dayton last Saturday, was named today as Mid-American Conference Back of the Week.

Lineman of the Week honors went to Bill Biggs, Ohio University's outstanding defensive end who was instrumental in the Bobcats' 12-10 triumph over Kent State.

Williams, a 6-foot-1, 240-pound senior fullback, had his most productive day ever with 139 yards in 29 rushes.

Biggs, a 200 pound senior from Athens, contributed 10 solo tackles and assisted on four others. The Ohio U. co-captain never once let a Kent runner get around his side.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — They're ganging up on Bullet Bob Hayes this National Football League season, but they just can't stop the world's fastest human from catching touchdown passes.

As a result the Dallas Cowboys are unbeaten in eight games—three of them league affairs—and Hayes is moving at a record pace.

Before that one Coach Norman Van Brocklin of the Vikings said "Hayes is no superman. I only hope some of our players give him a rap in the mouth and we'll see how well he does."

Hayes didn't get the poke in the mouth, but he was hit everywhere else, sat on and given a working over. He once complained to officials, but it didn't deter the former Olympic sprint champion, who once ran the 100 in 9.1.

He got loose in the second period as Don Meredith pitched to Hayes for 37 yards and a touchdown. Minnesota was ahead 10-0 at the time, but when Bob got the Cowboys on the scoreboard they went on to win the game 28-17.

Russians Set Peace Corps Worker Free

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — U.S. Peace Corpsman Thomas R. Dawson, held in Soviet custody for three weeks after he strayed across the Soviet-Iranian border while hunting sea shells, was flying home to the United States today.

The U.S. Embassy said Dawson, 24, left for Washington to report to the Peace Corps office and then visit his mother in Annapolis, Md.

Dawson was handed over to Iranian authorities Monday night at Astara, on the Caspian Sea, where he was seized Sept. 11 by Soviet border guards. Newsmen were not allowed to talk to him during his 24-hour stay in Tehran, apparently because the Iranian government did not want any repercussions from the Soviets.

Dawson told U.S. officials he felt fine and had been treated well by Soviet authorities.

In Washington, the State Department said no charges were placed against Dawson. The Soviets said they had to investigate the case to satisfy themselves that he had crossed the border innocently.

Toledo, Ohio U. Clash In Key League Contest

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—You can't blame Frank X. Lauterbur for being a bit reluctant about taking his Toledo football team to Athens Saturday.

Ohio University, after two consecutive surprise victories and getting stronger each week, plays its first home game against the Rockets.

"They may be looking for us," Lauterbur noted. "I know they will be sky high after beating Kent on the road."

The popular Toledo coach feels there's a great deal of significance attached to the game.

"Both of us are in a position where the game is a key one. The team that gets the decision will have the momentum to stay in the race."

The winner of the Toledo (1-0)-Ohio U. (1-0) skirmish is likely to challenge favored Miami (1-0) and strong Bowling Green (0-0) for the Mid-American Conference championship.

Other top attractions in the league Saturday find Kent State (0-1) at Miami and Bowling Green at Western Michigan (0-1).

Marshall, 0 - 1 in the loop, plays the Quantico Marines on the road.

Toledo has only won once at Athens since 1951, that one a 19-13 decision in 1956.

That little statistic may be adding to Lauterbur's concern.

"Ohio has a lot of things going for it," he said. "Bill Hess is a real sound, fundamental coach. And the Bobcats have a versatile attack with Ron DeLucca passing and Wash Lyons and Bob Houmard running."

Lauterbur said his sophomore fullback Bob Pfefferle has been a pleasant surprise and has put some punch in the attack.

Pfefferle has gained 234 yards in three games and averaged 7.1 yards a crack.

Coach Leo Strang's Golden Flashes will be trying to rebound against a hot Miami club that owns the nation's longest winning streak at nine.

Kent whipped the Redskins 24-13 a year ago.

Vanlier Scored One Of Midland's TD's

Halfback Dave Vanlier scored one of Midland's touchdowns in the 26-0 victory over Burgettstown last Friday night. It was reported incorrectly that Jim Smith had scored two touchdowns. Smith and Vanlier scored one each.

Several months ago hospital authorities advised District Atty. Robert J. Masters that her condition was improved and she was able to leave the institution. The DA petitioned the court to re-examine her through a special sanity commission.

She is accused of the .32-caliber pistol slaying of her children June 16, 1964, as they slept at the family's Ohioville home.

Woman Ordered Back To Hospital In Slaying Case

Beaver County Judge Ralph F. Scalera Tuesday ordered Mrs. Mary Zlatovich of Ohioville returned to Dixmont State Hospital on the basis of a final report of a court-appointed sanity commission. She had been held in the County Jail at Beaver.

Mrs. Zlatovich was committed July 30, 1964, for treatment after she was charged with the slaying of four of her five children.

Several months ago hospital authorities advised District Atty. Robert J. Masters that her condition was improved and she was able to leave the institution. The DA petitioned the court to re-examine her through a special sanity commission.

She is accused of the .32-caliber pistol slaying of her children June 16, 1964, as they slept at the family's Ohioville home.

OSU Aide Will Speak At County 4-H Event

LEETONIA — John T. Mount, vice president for educational services at Ohio State University, will speak at Columbiana County's annual 4-H advisers' recognition banquet at 7:15 p.m. Thursday in Orchard Hill School here.

Lamonte Merreot, a Columbiana 4-H club adviser, will be master of ceremonies. The event will honor the 212 advisers serving county clubs.

JOHN T. MOUNT
At Leetonia Thursday.

A native of Montgomery County and a graduate of OSU and the University of Wisconsin, Mount has been a county 4-H extension agent, assistant state 4-H leader and assistant dean and secretary of the College of Agriculture.

He is secretary of the university's board of trustees and the board of control of the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center. He is also chairman of the board of trustees of the Methodist Theological School in Ohio.

Judge Says Bar Oversteps Bounds To Curb Crime News

CINCINNATI (AP)—A federal judge believes the American Bar Association "has overstepped" the bounds of good reasoning with proposals to restrict the reporting of crime news.

The proposals, Judge George Edwards said Tuesday, "would prevent lawyers from talking about a case from the date of arrest, to the verdict, and beyond, to subsequent motions."

"It could go on for years," he added.

Judge Edwards, as a member of the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, was the only dissenter when the court upheld the murder conviction of Samuel Sheppard.

Judge Edwards said the former Cleveland osteopath did not receive a fair trial because of its publicity. The U.S. Supreme Court later agreed with Edwards and ruled that Sheppard be given another trial. That trial is to start Oct. 18.

"I feel some responsibility to point out that no judge who participated in review of that case advocated the strictures which are currently being contemplated by the bar association, Edwards said.

Among the proposals by the ABA's advisory committee on free press and fair trial were:

—That the canon of legal ethics be changed so that attorneys from either side would be barred from making statements outside of court about matters likely to come out in a criminal trial.

—That newsmen from all media be subject to contempt of court for reporting prejudicial statements during a trial.

"I believe the committee, in its enthusiasm to curb excesses of press freedom, has far overstepped the bounds of good reason," Edwards said.

15th Funds Bill May Be Key To Congress Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 15th and final appropriation bill not yet on the drafting board may hold the answer to whether Congress can hit its current adjournment target of Oct. 22.

It provides financing for some of the more costly and controversial domestic programs, including the war on poverty and aid for education.

The bill can't start its tedious journey through the House and the Senate until the House Appropriations Committee writes it. The committee hasn't yet received the administration's estimates for money.

It can't write the bill until separate measures giving legal status to the poverty and education programs have cleared Congress and have been signed by the President. A point of order made by any individual member could knock out money for any program not authorized by separate laws.

The poverty bill was passed last week by the House and Tuesday night by the Senate. It still must go to a Senate-House conference for adjustment of extensive differences.

The elementary and secondary school bill hasn't passed either branch but is on today's House docket. A separate bill has been approved by the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee but carries a much higher price tag than the House measure does. It could take a long Senate-House conference to work out a compromise.

Another school bill, authorizing aid to higher education, has passed the House and been approved by the Senate committee. Funds to finance it cannot be included in the final money bill until the education bill becomes law.

Senate and House leaders are expected to huddle next week to survey the situation. If the outlook for adjournment by Oct. 22 is bleak — unless major legislation is to be jettisoned — they may reluctantly decide on a pre-election recess and a return to work late in November.

Ohio U. Journalism Society Hears AP General Manager

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—"Men committed to politics, public policies, creeds and philosophies will always try to influence the news to their cause," Associated Press General Manager Wes Gallagher said Tuesday night.

Therefore, the news service executive said, such men "find standing in their way the journalist who is dedicated only to serve his readers with the truth as best he can find it."

Gallagher presented a foundation lecture at Ohio University for Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society.

He said journalism today requires people better trained and better equipped than ever before.

"It requires not only sympathetic understanding of mankind, but a cold objective analysis of how mankind meets the problem of this age," he added.

Dissent of official viewpoints is often termed unpatriotic, he said, "and press freedom in some countries has meant the freedom to go to jail."

But journalism offers more than challenges to young people, Gallagher said.

"The best passport to adventure in the 20th Century is a press pass. Being a reporter is like having a seat on the 50-yard line watching history as it happens. His job is to keep the box score," said Gallagher.

Gallagher's "passport" has taken him to 65 countries as a reporter, and he has helped keep the "box score" for five national political conventions and three wars.

His speech here was one of three Sigma Delta Chi foundation lectures in the United States this year.

Challenges Remain In Selection Of Jury

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — The jury box was filled Tuesday for the murder trial of Arthur Dodge, but the prosecution and defense both have challenges left that could result in juror changes.

Dodge, 22, is accused in the shooting deaths of his wife and mother-in-law. He has pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity.

House Bill Insures Savings To $20,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government insurance would cover bank and savings and loan accounts up to $20,000, instead of $10,000 as at present, under a measure approved by the House and sent to the Senate.

The House voted Tuesday to include such a provision in a bank regulation bill already passed by the Senate.

Interest Rates Climb

Tight Money Slows Down Building Of New Homes

NEW YORK (AP) — Construction of new houses across the country is off sharply this year as interest rates climb.

Many families are having trouble borrowing money to buy new homes.

"Home building has all but been shattered by tight money," said Burton E. Smith, president of the California Real Estate Association. "I never have seen it so tight, so bad. If and when building starts up again, it will take the builders two years to catch up with the demand."

An Associated Press survey of major cities found:

Housing starts in Southern California this year have been the lowest since 1941.

In Dallas, they are the lowest in six years, with apartment construction down 39 per cent and houses 17 per cent.

"With all the hundreds of real estate offices in Dallas, only 12 deals were made in the whole city in half a week," said Mrs. Maude Thompson, a Dallas real estate agent. "Usually it's 80 or so a week."

In Minneapolis, sales of houses have been down and rentals up.

In Seattle, new housing construction has been down, but sales are up 30 per cent from of 1965 in the midst of an economic boom.

In Chicago, George Arquilla Jr., Burnside Construction Co president, said tight money had hurt most of the builders in Chicago, and put some out of business.

In Kansas City, Dale Thompson, president of City Bond and Mortgage, estimated the decline in new starts at 25 to 30 per cent.

The flow of mortgage money for one-family houses has slowed to a trickle, Kansas City builders reported. They said sales had dropped 40 to 50 per cent from 1965.

The builders blame tight money — the difficulty they have in obtaining loans to finance construction of houses — and the problems families have in obtaining mortgages to buy the houses.

Thousands of prospective home buyers have had a struggle in getting government-insured Federal Housing Administration and Veterans Administration loans in recent months.

Lending institutions have been putting their money in other types of loans on which interest rates are higher.

In a move to attract more funds, the government increased the interest rate on FHA and VA-insured mortgages Monday from 5¾ to 6 per cent.

The increase makes the rate of return on federally insured mortgages close to the prevailing rates on conventional mortgages, which have averaged about 6.35 per cent.

Promises To Achieve Little

Planned American Parley Described As Sacred Cow

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Diplomats in Buenos Aires say most of the American governments realize the proposed conference of the hemisphere's presidents promises to achieve little. But, as one puts it, "it's become a sacred cow and nobody wants to be the first to kill it."

The presidential conference was first proposed last May by Argentine President Arturo Illia. The proposal gained momentum when President Johnson endorsed it a few weeks later. Then Illia was overthrown by the Argentine military, and Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania replaced him.

Thus far there has been little agreement on time, place or agenda for the conference. Buenos Aires; Punta Del Este, Uruguay; Vina Del Mar, Chile; Lima, Peru; and San Jose, Costa Rica, all have been suggested as sites. The current word is Mexico City next March.

There is general agreement the presidents would deal mainly with top-level economic matters to give a push to lagging plans for Latin-American development and economic integration.

The United States reportedly has proposed two subjects: boosting the Alliance for Progress and cutting down the arms race in Latin America. The latter is considered a move to quiet congressional critics of U.S. military aid to coup-prone Latin republics.

Several nations have advanced no ideas at all for the summit gathering, diplomats said here, because they feel the summit will do little more than sanction what the inter-American foreign ministers approved earlier.

Ohio Traffic Mishaps Take 8 More Lives

By The Associated Press

A bus driver with 25 years of accident-free driving for his company was killed in a traffic accident Tuesday that also claimed the life of his wife and a highway worker.

The victims, among Ohio's latest traffic accident casualties were:

Lamar G. Ratcliff, 52, Batavia and his 53-year-old wife Opal.

Samuel Buckhanan, 38, Covington, Ky.

Michael Morgan, 19, Garfield Heights.

Gerald Miller, 48, Maple Heights.

Thomas Price, 24, Canal Fulton, Summit County.

Lawrence Pugh, 29, Rt. 1, Pleasant Plain, Warren County.

Robert R. Myers, 29, Marysville, Union County.

A car carrying the Ratcliffs and a tractor trailer loaded with steel collided headon Tuesday on U.S. 50 near Owensville, Clermont County, after the truck had struck Buchanan who was working on a resurfacing project, the Ohio Highway Patrol said. The truck's brakes apparently failed, the patrol said, and its driver, 21-year-old Thornton Freeman of Rt. 4, Salem, Ill., suffered minor injuries. Ratcliff was a driver for the Greyhound Bus Co. with whom he had a record of 25 years without a traffic mishap.

Morgan and Miller were killed Tuesday in a four-car pileup in Cleveland's suburban Garfield Heights. None of the other persons involved were seriously injured.

A headon crash in Summit County on Tuesday claimed the life of Price, who was alone in his auto, sheriff's deputies reported. The other driver, Jerry R. Farrell, 21, of Clinton, south of Akron, and his wife, Sharon, were hospitalized at Barberton.

His car left a rural Warren County road south of Morrow Tuesday and Pugh died afterwards while being transferred from Wilmington Hospital to a Cincinnati hospital.

Myers, a passenger in a car driven by Russell G. Bright, 21, of Marysville, died Tuesday in Madison County Hospital at London. He was injured in a two-car crash on Ohio 56 near London on Monday in which Bright was killed outright.

Hancock County ASC Office Will Reopen Monday

The Hancock County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office, located in the old Lock No. 9 Building at New Cumberland, is closed this week while the office manager, Mrs. Norma Murray, is attending a training workshop meeting at Morgantown. The meeting is being held in the ASCS state office.

The Hancock office will reopen next Monday.

Farmers are reminded that in order to receive their final 1966 feed grain and wheat payments, the compliance statement must be signed at the county office. Payments will be mailed during the week of Oct. 10 for those who already have signed their statements.

If an expiration date has expired, or farmers wish to report a completion date for a lime practice, they may mail the report to the office or request an extension of time by mail while the office is closed.

The matter will receive attention when Mrs. Murray returns. Soil samples may be left at the office in the meantime.

Midland Police Warn On Auto Vandalism

Midland Police Chief Ed Stefl has issued a warning against demaging of auto antennas following recent vandalism involving cars on an agency lot and parked along streets.

Six auto antennas were broken on used cars at Acon Pontiac Inc. of 1070 Midland Ave. Monday night, and a car parked on Beaver Ave. was damaged recently in a similar fashion.

Anyone apprehended will face charges, Chief Stefl said.

LEETONIA — John T. Mount, vice president for educational services at Ohio State University, will speak at Columbiana County's annual 4-H advisers' recognition banquet at 7:15 p.m. Thursday in Orchard Hill School here.

Lamonte Merreot, a Columbiana 4-H club adviser, will be master of ceremonies. The event will honor the 212 advisers serving county clubs.

A native of Montgomery County and a graduate of OSU and the University of Wisconsin, Mount has been a county 4-H extension agent, assistant state 4-H leader and assistant dean and secretary of the College of Agriculture.

He is secretary of the university's board of trustees and the board of control of the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center. He is also chairman of the board of trustees of the Methodist Theological School in Ohio.

Judge Says Bar Oversteps Bounds To Curb Crime News

CINCINNATI (AP) — A federal judge believes the American Bar Association "has overstepped" the bounds of good reasoning with proposals to restrict the reporting of crime news.

The proposals, Judge George Edwards said Tuesday, would prevent lawyers from talking about a case from the date of arrest, to the verdict, and beyond, to subsequent motions.

"It could go on for years," he added.

Judge Edwards, as a member of the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, was the only dissenter when the court upheld the murder conviction of Samuel Sheppard.

Judge Edwards said the former Cleveland osteopath did not receive a fair trial because of publicity. The U.S. Supreme Court later agreed with Edwards and ruled that Sheppard be given another trial. That trial is to start Oct. 18.

"I feel some responsibility to point out that no judge who participated in review of that case advocated the strictures which are currently being contemplated by the bar association, Edwards said.

Among the proposals by the ABA's advisory committee on free press and fair trial were:

—That the canon of legal ethics be changed so that attorneys from either side would be barred from making statements outside of court about matters likely to come out in a criminal trial.

—That newsmen from all media be subject to contempt of court for reporting prejudicial statements during a trial.

"I believe the committee, in its enthusiasm to curb excesses of press freedom, has far overstepped the bounds of good reason," Edwards said.

15th Funds Bill May Be Key To Congress Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 15th and final appropriation bill not yet on the drafting board may hold the answer to whether Congress can hit its current adjournment target of Oct. 22.

It provides financing for some of the more costly and controversial domestic programs, including the war on poverty and aid for education.

The bill can't start its tedious journey through the House and the Senate until the House Appropriations Committee writes it. The committee hasn't yet received the administration's estimates for money.

It can't write the bill until separate measures giving legal status to the poverty and education programs have cleared Congress and have been signed by the President. A point of order made by any individual member could knock out money for any program not authorized by separate laws.

The poverty bill was passed last week by the House and Tuesday night by the Senate. It still must go to a Senate-House conference for adjustment of existing differences.

The elementary and secondary school bill hasn't passed either branch but is on today's House docket. A separate bill has been approved by the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee but carries a much higher price tag than the House measure does. It could take a long Senate-House conference to work out a compromise.

Another school bill, authorizing aid to higher education, has passed the House and been approved by the Senate committee. Funds to finance it cannot be included in the final money bill until the education bill becomes law.

Senate and House leaders are expected to huddle next week to survey the situation. If the outlook for adjournment by Oct. 22 is bleak — unless major legislation is to be jettisoned — they may reluctantly decide on a pre-election recess and a return to work late in November.

Ohio U. Journalism Society Hears AP General Manager

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Men committed to politics, public policies, creeds and philosophies will always try to influence the news to their cause," Associated Press General Manager Wes Gallagher said Tuesday night.

Therefore, the news service executive said, such men "find standing in their way the journalist who is dedicated only to serve his readers with the truth as best he can find it."

Gallagher presented a foundation lecture at Ohio University for Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society.

He said journalism today requires people better trained and better equipped than ever before.

"It requires not only sympathetic understanding of mankind, but a cold objective analysis of how mankind meets the problem of this age," he added.

Dissent of official viewpoints is often termed unpatriotic, he said, "and press freedom in some countries has meant the freedom to go to jail."

But journalism offers more than challenges to young people, Gallagher said.

"The best passport to adventure in the 20th Century is a press pass. Being a reporter is like having a seat on the 50 yard line watching history as it happens. His job is to keep the box score," said Gallagher.

Gallagher's "passport" has taken him to 65 countries as a reporter, and he has helped keep the "box score" for five national political conventions and three wars.

His speech here was one of three Sigma Delta Chi foundation lectures in the United States this year.

Challenges Remain In Selection Of Jury

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — The jury box was filled Tuesday for the murder trial of Arthur Dodge, but the prosecution and defense both have challenges left that could result in juror changes.

Dodge, 22, is accused in the shooting deaths of his wife and mother-in-law. He has pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity.

House Bill Insures Savings To $20,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government insurance would cover bank and savings and loan accounts up to $20,000 instead of $10,000 as at present, under a measure approved by the House and sent to the Senate.

The House voted Tuesday to include such a provision in a bank regulation bill already passed by the Senate.

Tight Money Slows Down Building Of New Homes

NEW YORK (AP) — Construction of new houses across the country is off sharply this year as interest rates climb.

Many families are having trouble borrowing money to buy new homes.

"Home building has all but been shattered by tight money," said Burton E. Smith, president of the California Real Estate Association. "I never have seen it so tight, so bad. If and when building starts up again, it will take the builders two years to catch up with the demand."

An Associated Press survey of major cities found:

Housing starts in Southern California this year have been the lowest since 1944.

In Dallas, they are the lowest in six years, with apartment construction down 39 per cent and houses 17 per cent.

"With all the hundreds of real estate offices in Dallas, only 12 deals were made in the whole city in half a week," said Mrs. Maude Thompson, a Dallas real estate agent. "Usually it's 80 or so a week."

In Minneapolis, sales of houses have been down and rentals up.

In Seattle, new housing construction has been down, but sales are up 30 per cent from 1965 in the midst of an economic boom.

In Chicago, George Arquilla Jr., Burnside Construction Co. president, said tight money had hurt most of the builders in Chicago, and put some out of business.

In Kansas City, Dale Thompson, president of City Bond and Mortgage, estimated the decline in new starts at 25 to 30 per cent.

The flow of mortgage money for one-family houses has slowed to a trickle, Kansas City builders reported. They said sales had dropped 40 to 50 per cent from 1965.

The builders blame tight money — the difficulty they have in obtaining loans to finance construction of houses and the problems families have in obtaining mortgages to buy the houses.

Thousands of prospective home buyers have had a struggle in getting government-insured Federal Housing Administration and Veterans Administration loans in recent months.

Lending institutions have been putting their money in other types of loans on which interest rates are higher.

In a move to attract more funds, the government increased the interest rate on FHA and VA-insured mortgages Monday from 5¾ to 6 per cent.

The increase makes the rate of return on federally insured mortgages close to the prevailing rates on conventional mortgages, which have averaged about 6.35 per cent.

Promises To Achieve Little

Planned American Parley Described As Sacred Cow

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Diplomats in Buenos Aires say most of the American governments realize the proposed conference of the hemisphere's presidents promises to achieve little. But, as one puts it, "it's become a sacred cow and nobody wants to be the first to kill it."

The presidential conference was first proposed last May by Argentine President Arturo Illia. The proposal gained momentum when President Johnson endorsed it a few weeks later. Then Illia was overthrown by the Argentine military, and Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania replaced him.

Thus far there has been little agreement on time, place or agenda for the conference. Buenos Aires; Punta Del Este, Uruguay; Vina Del Mar, Chile; Lima, Peru, and San Jose, Costa Rica, all have been suggested as sites. The current word is Mexico City next March.

There is general agreement the presidents would deal mainly with top-level economic matters to give a push to lagging plans for Latin-American development and economic integration.

The United States reportedly has proposed two subjects: boosting the Alliance for Progress and cutting down the arms race in Latin America. The latter is considered a move to quiet congressional critics of U.S. military aid to coup-prone Latin republics.

Several nations have advanced no ideas at all for the summit gathering, diplomats said here, because they feel the summit will do little more than sanction what the inter-American foreign ministers approved earlier.

Ohio Traffic Mishaps Take 8 More Lives

By The Associated Press

A bus driver with 25 years of accident-free driving for his company was killed in a traffic accident Tuesday that also claimed the life of his wife and a highway worker.

The victims, among Ohio's latest traffic accident casualties were:

Lamar G. Ratcliff, 52, Batavia and his 53-year-old wife Opal.

Samuel Buckhanan, 38, Covington, Ky.

Michael Morgan, 19, Garfield Heights.

Gerald Miller, 48, Maple Heights.

Thomas Price, 24, Canal Fulton, Summit County.

Lawrence Pugh, 29, Rt. 1, Pleasant Plain, Warren County.

Robert R. Myers, 29, Marysville, Union County.

A car carrying the Ratcliffs and a tractor trailer loaded with steel collided headon Tuesday on U.S. 50 near Owensville, Clermont County, after the truck had struck Buchanan who was working on a resurfacing project, the Ohio Highway Patrol said. The truck's brakes apparently failed, the patrol said, and its driver, 21-year-old Thornton Freeman of Rt. 4, Salem, Ill., suffered minor injuries. Ratcliff was a driver for the Greyhound Bus Co. with whom he had a record of 25 years without a traffic mishap.

Morgan and Miller were killed Tuesday in a four-car pileup in Cleveland's suburban Garfield Heights. None of the other persons involved were seriously injured.

A headon crash in Summit County on Tuesday claimed the life of Price, who was alone in his auto. Sheriff's deputies reported. The other driver, Jerry R. Farrell, 21, of Clinton, south of Akron, and his wife, Sharon, were hospitalized at Barberton.

His car left a rural Warren County road south of Morrow Tuesday and Pugh died afterwards while being transferred from Wilmington Hospital to a Cincinnati hospital.

Myers, a passenger in a car driven by Russell G. Bright, 21, of Marysville, died Tuesday in Madison County Hospital at London. He was injured in a two-car crash on Ohio 56 near London on Monday in which Bright was killed outright.

Hancock County ASC Office Will Reopen Monday

The Hancock County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office, located in the old Lock No. 9 Building at New Cumberland, is closed this week while the office manager, Mrs. Norma Murray, is attending a training workshop meeting at Morgantown. The meeting is being held in the ASCS state office.

The Hancock office will reopen next Monday.

Farmers are reminded that in order to receive their final 1966 feed grain and wheat payments, the compliance statement must be signed at the county office. Payments will be mailed during the week of Oct. 10 for those who already have signed their statements.

If an expiration date has expired, or farmers wish to report a completion date for a lime practice, they may mail the report to the office or request an extension of time by mail while the office is closed.

The matter will receive attention when Mrs. Murray returns. Soil samples may be left at the office in the meantime.

Midland Police Warn On Auto Vandalism

Midland Police Chief Ed Steff has issued a warning against damaging of auto antennas following recent vandalism involving cars on an agency lot and parked along streets.

Six auto antennas were broken on used cars at Acon Pontiac Inc. of 1070 Midland Ave. Monday night, and a car parked on Beaver Ave. was damaged recently in a similar fashion.

Anyone apprehended will face charges, Chief Steff said.

Mother Awarded $275,000 Due To Husband's Death

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A Painesville mother of seven was awarded $275,000 damages Tuesday for the death of her husband at a Mentor construction site two years ago.

A Lake County Common Pleas Court jury awarded Mrs. Robert Sloban $250,000 for her husband's death and another $25,000 for the pain and suffering during two hours of the last 20 hours he lived after the accident Aug. 18, 1964.

Sloban was working on construction at the Mentor sewage disposal plant when a 2½-ton bucket of cement fell on him from a crane owned by Patterson and George Crane Inc. The jury cleared Osborne Inc. of Mentor, a concrete supplier for responsibility in the accident, and held the Patterson and George firm liable for both awards.

More tin has been mined in Alaska than in the entire United States.

Young Hunter Killed In Fall On His Arrow

GREEN POINT, Pa. (AP) — A young man hunting deer with a bow and arrow died Tuesday when he fell from a tree, impaled himself on one of his arrows and bled to death, state police said.

Police said Robert L. Sholly, 25, Lebanon, Pa., was on a platform he had built in a tree when he dropped his quiver of arrows. While climbing down, he fell on the quiver and an arrow went into his thigh.

He walked a mile to his car and then drove for another mile but lost consciousness and died, police said.

'Better Schools' Group To Push For Levy OK

Plans for explaining the East Liverpool School District's financial problems and the need for approval of a proposed 3.5-mill operating levy in the Nov. 8 general election were discussed during a meeting of the Citizens Committee for Better Schools Tuesday night.

Seventeen attended the session conducted at the high school library by Sidney Porter Jr., president.

Supt. Paul Blair discussed the recent cutbacks in staff, operations and curriculum, which he said were necessitated because of lack of sufficient funds.

He pointed out the need to restore programs and transportation facilities which have been trimmed and listed other reductions which may result if additional money is not received by the district.

The group agreed to work for passage of the levy and made various suggestions on providing information about the district's financial problems and needs to the public.

Lynda Sees Actor

NEW YORK (AP) — Lynda Bird Johnson flew here Tuesday and spent about 15 minutes with actor George Hamilton who is on location for a film. Police said the President's eldest daughter sat with Hamilton and two Secret Service men in a limousine being used in the movie.

Each Mexican village has its own patron saint, but the Virgin of Guadalupe is the patron saint of all Mexico.

Garfield PTA Has Meeting

Teachers were introduced at the first fall meeting of the Garfield Parent - Teacher League Tuesday night at the school.

Some 50 attended the meeting at which Milton Watson, principal, introduced the faculty.

The group authorized $20 for each teacher to obtain classroom supplies. The Rev. Arthur Williams led devotions and Mrs. Ruth Ann Woodward, vice president, conducted business.

Watson also discussed the proposed 3.5-mill school levy on the Nov. 8 ballot, citing the need for additional funds in the district to provide adequate educational programs.

Cecil Sayre made a gift presentation for Miss Ann Johnston, former Garfield principal who was transferred to Westgate School.

The third grade of Mrs. Ruby McComas won the attendance banner. Homeroom mothers served as the social committee.

An afternoon meeting will be held in December.

Allison Elected Head Of Chester Kiwanians

Thayer Allison, principal of the Primary and Intermediate Schools of Chester, was elected president of the Chester Kiwanis Club at its meeting Thursday night in City Hall auditorium.

Others named are: Robert Cooley, first vice president; Richard Pillo, second vice president; Dr. Howard Matthew, John W. Boyd and Harold Staley, board of directors.

Terms of four directors will carry over from the previous board. The new officers will assume their duties at the first meeting in January.

Alvin Fineman was named chairman of the pancake suppers to be held Nov. 9-10 in the auditorium, with Albert Kell co-chairman.

Allison introduced John Day, resident engineer for the Airco Reduction Co., Inc., who discussed "The Company and Its Products."

Day pointed out the company has been in business for 50 years and employs 13,000 throughout the U.S. There will be a production capacity of 1,700 tons per day at the new Hancock County operation, with the pipeline which will run to the Jones & Laughlin steel mill at Aliquippa being approximately 26 miles long. The line has been surveyed and all easements obtained, he said.

One point which the speaker emphasized is that oxygen is not flammable or explosive in itself.

Twenty - seven attended last night's meeting.

The invocation was by the Rev. Robert Schondelmayer.

James Walker, Tate Hilbert, H. Jud English, Edwin Maloney and James McGowan of the East Liverpool Kiwanis Club were guests.

Kell presided during the meeting.

The club will meet again next Tuesday.

Check Phone Bid For Funds, Chamber's Warning Advises

East Liverpool area householders and businessmen who receive telephone requests for donations to unknown charities or sales "pitches" from unfamiliar firms should check carefully before promising a contribution or placing an order, the community protection service of the Chamber of Commerce warned today.

Telephone solicitations are recognized as an important phase in the selling field and are not objectionable if the person receiving the call is acquainted with the person who is calling or his business firm, the Chamber asserted. But if the call is from a stranger, no one should commit himself until he has had time to establish the person's identity and his connection with the business or organizations he represents, it added.

The Chamber said both sales campaigns and charitable appeals by telephone appear to be particularly numerous in the area now, judging from the number of queries it has received from householders and businessmen.

It issued these five tips to persons who receive solicitations by telephone::

1. If the person calling is a stranger, suggest they see you in person or write a letter explaining the details of the solicitation or business proposition so it can be understood thoroughly.

2. Determine how much of your contribution will be spent for the purpose for which it is solicited and what per centage is expended for administration and fund-raising costs, including commissions to promoters or solicitors, if any.

3. Refuse to contribute to organizations which fail to make full disclosure of their activities and the purpose for which the funds being solicited will be used.

4. Notify the Chamber of any appeal which you are inclined to believe is questionable, even though you have little intention of contributing to it. Investigation by the Chamber might serve to protect other people.

5. Don't respond too hurriedly to telephone appeals. Investigate before you invest, either in a charity appeal or a business proposition.

The Chamber also warned the public to beware of the 10 most prevalent schemes in the nation, according to a list compiled by the National Better Business Bureau.

The BBB said the schemes are: "Bait and switch" sales pitches; home improvement swindles; chain referral sales plans; charity gyps; phony credit certificates; so - called "business opportunities;" debt consolidation loans; victimizing of the aged; health quackery, and "work-at-home" schemes.

Nike Group Of High School Prepares For New Season

Officers and committee chairmen of the Nike Club of East Liverpool High School reviewed procedures, assigned meeting programs and elected additional members for the 1966-67 year during a meeting Monday night.

Selected for membership were Sue Conley, Elizabeth Baxter, Linda Crooks and Rosemary Finney, bringing the membership to 35. The four will be initiated next Monday at the Potters annex in Calcutta.

Miss Cathy Duffy, president, who presided for Monday's meeting, reviewed the points system through which the club's "most valuable member" is selected to receive the "Nike Award" from the sponsoring East Liverpool Business and Professional Women's Club. Points slips, on which members must record their activities during the coming year, were distributed.

Miss Duffy also outlined regular meeting procedures, committee duties, sponsors' responsibilities and dues-paying date. Copies of the club roster, by-laws, committee assignments and program booklets were given each board member.

The Nike Club will hold regular meetings on the second Monday of each month, with the membership committee, of which Kathy Collins is chairman, in charge of next Monday's initiation session. Other assignments of the club year include: Nov. 14, project committee, Mary Cartwright, chairman; Dec. 12, public relations, Jane Snow, chairman; Jan. 9, personal development, Ella Bradfield, chairman; Feb. 13, project committee; March 13, hospitality, Debbie Reeder, chairman; April 10, executives in charge, and May 8, the membership and hospitality committees share responsibility for "Nike Recognition Night."

All three of the exterior units — two auto lanes and the after-hours window — will be open for inspection during the three hours, but no business will be conducted.

ACTUAL transactions will begin on Friday, Gordon E. Starkey, president of the company, said, with the two auto lanes open from 9 a. m. until 4 p.m. and the after-hours facility from 2 p.m. until 4 p.m.

On Saturday, the two auto lanes only will be open—from 9 a. m. until noon.

Starkey said the following banking services will be available at the TV units:

Deposits to personal checking accounts, commercial deposits (no withdrawals), installment loan payments, personal note payments and mortgage payments.

Souvenirs will be given away Thursday, Friday and Saturday in conjunction with the grand opening as well as tickets for a drawing for prizes. The drawing will be conducted Monday.

OFFICIALS explained TV banking in a nutshell as follows:

"Drive up, press the button and the teller in the bank comes on camera. You see and talk with the teller.

"Have your transaction material ready, place it in the carrier container, the door will close automatically and it whisks by air to the teller. Wait a moment for the return, remove your material from the container — and you're on your way."

Bank officials cautioned customers: "When you have long transactions, such as counting coins, please park and come into the main bank. Also, use the main bank facilities for merchants' bulk deposits and for all savings withdrawals."

Diebold, Inc. of Canton, Ohio, a banking equipment firm, installed the all-transistorized cameras in "Auto Teller" units, which provide two-way "hear-see" communications between a bank customer at an unattended outdoor station and a teller inside the bank building.

The Auto-Teller system uses a camera and a TV picture monitor at the drive-in location outdoors and a similar camera-monitor arrangement indoors. With the TV link established by cable, customer and teller can transact business face to face, although they may be 100 or more feet apart.

A voice circuit between the two points carries the two-way conversation and a pneumatic tube is used to exchange bankbooks, checks, currency and other banking items at high speed. The entire transaction generally takes about two minutes, it was pointed out.

THE VUE-MATIC Courier is a fast, efficient method that speeds items from station to station in a matter of seconds. It can accommodate eight pounds and moves at the speed of 25 feet per second. The courier travel between customer and teller stations is controlled entirely by the teller. The customer need only press a signal to call the teller and every other part of the operation is done by the teller.

The communications system is entirely transistorized for maximum fidelity and freedom from interference and minimal servicing.

At night, the TV console is covered with a metal storm door for protection.

Entrance to the new facility will be on E. 4th St. only, with the exit on Washington St.

The after-hours window unit is heated for winter and air-conditioned for summer.

The regular banking hours at the main Potters Bank and Trust building on E. 5th St. and at the Wellsville branch are from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. daily, except Wednesday and Saturday, when closing time is noon

Officers Cite Driver After 3-Way Crash

A Lorain County man was cited on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance late Tuesday afternoon after a three-car "chain reaction" crash on Pennsylvania Ave. at Virginia Ave., police reported.

James H. Olmsted, 27, of Grafton was cited in the collision at 4:24 p. m. that damaged his 1966 model four-door sedan, a 1965 sedan driven by Marjorie L. Harkins, 34, of 1719 Globe St. and a 1966 model sports car operated by Roy Edward Crews, 23, of Wellsville R. D. 1, police said.

The Crews and Harkins cars were stopped in a line of traffic when Olmsted's auto hit the rear of the local woman's car and shoved it forward into the Wellsville area man's car, police said.

The woman was released after X-rays at City Hospital for possible back injuries. Olmsted forfeited a $32.50 bond today in Municipal Court on the traffic charge.

Meanwhile, a backing tractor-trailer rig knocked down a utility pole Tuesday at 2:12 p. m. on Pennsylvania Ave. near Dewey Ave., police reported.

The pole was struck by a rig driven by Peter J. Gaynor, 44, of Philadelphia, Pa., and owned by the Interstate Motor Freight System of Norwalk, Ohio, officers said.

Gaynor told police he pulled into the company's former freight terminal, now the city's vehicle maintenance barn. Learning he was at the wrong spot, he started to back off the property when the trailer hit the pole, shearing it off, he said.

Gaynor was cited on a charge of operating a motor vehicle without a license. His permit had expired, police said. He posted a $32.50 bond for a hearing Monday.

A collision on Market St. at 4th St. Tuesday at 3:35 p. m. damaged the front of a 1964 two-door sedan driven by Paul E. Caldwell, 40, of Oakmont and the rear of a 1953 convertible driven by Suzette Beaver, 39, of 1911 Lisbon St., officers said.

The woman said she was halted for a traffic light when her car was hit from the rear, officers reported.

Utility bags to be collected during World Community Day were distributed.

"Canada and United States — Neighbors" was the program presented by Mrs. Ray Alexander.

Hostesses were Mrs. Raymond Moore and Mrs. Wilbur Hawthorne, assisted by Mrs. Richard Mason and Mrs. William Carr.

The next meeting will be Nov. 1 at the Morgan House, with Mrs. Earl Foster and Mrs. Alexander hostesses.

The Chester campaign on behalf of Muscular Dystrophy, which began Sept. 19, will continue through Oct. 24.

Plans include a rummage sale to be held in the Ciccarelli Building on Carolina Ave., beginning Oct. 10 and continuing through Oct. 22. A bake sale also will be included on the closing day.

A "roadblock" is being planned by the Grant District Burial Group and cannisters will be placed in public establishments and a solicitation of businesses and organizations conducted.

Those wishing to contribute in any way may contact the chairman, Mrs. Harold Staley of 447 Florida Ave., or Mrs. John D. Fitzjohn of 500 California Ave.

Campaign leaders stressed that "any donations will be greatly appreciated."

The Chester drive is being conducted in conjunction with the Columbiana County MD chapter, which serves Columbiana, Beaver and Hancock counties. One of the 26 patients being cared for at the present time is from Chester, Mrs. Staley pointed out.

Current officers are Harry Martin, president; James A. Staley, vice president, Mrs. Staley, secretary, and Mrs. Ruth Jenkins, treasurer.

Drivers Cited In 2 Mishaps

Two East Palestine area drivers were cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol as a result of two of three district highway mishaps Tuesday.

Adam Moore, 20, of 85½ Rebecca St. was charged after his auto struck the rear of a sedan at Negley.

Alice M. Dickey, 43, of Negley had halted her 1966 sedan on Route 170 at Route 154 and was about to make a left turn when Moore, who had increased his speed to cross railroad tracks, struck the rear of her car.

He was cited for misuse of a temporary license tag and lack of an operator's license.

Larry Elbert Johnson, 17, of East Palestine R.D. 1 was cited for speeding after his 1959 convertible went off Township Rd. 702 south of Route 30 in the Minerva area last evening and struck a utility pole.

Officers said Johnson's car went off the right side and traveled 177 feet before hitting the pole which was knocked down and continued another 69 feet out of control.

Joseph Nussman, 24, of Pittsburgh escaped injury when his 1965 sports coach went off a curve of Route 154 a mile east of Lisbon yesterday afternoon and into a ditch. The left front of the auto was damaged.

George Washington laid the cornerstone for the national Capitol.

Woman Receives 'Pacemaker' For Heart Condition

Mrs. Lewis Koch of Blackhawk expects to return home this week following insertion of a pacemaker in her heart Sept. 22 at Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Koch, 65, had suffered for three years from two heart blocks, resulting in low blood pressure which caused her to black out. Following four weeks in Providence Hospital, where her condition worsened, Mrs. Koch consented to the surgery, which required a 10-hour, two-day operation.

The lengthy surgery was performed at Presbyterian Hospital. Mrs. Koch was conscious throughout, having local anesthesia. On the second day of the operation, she was returned to her room at 11:20 a. m. and sat up to eat lunch at noon.

Her daughter, Peggy, said she noticed a change in her mother's skin color immediately. Her heartbeat of 40 has increased to 70. The pacemaker regulates the beat of her heart.

She and her husband, retired from the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp., plan to visit her brother in Arizona as soon as she returns from the hospital. Under the care of a Beaver Falls physician, she will receive periodic checkups.

The first telegraphed message from Washington to Baltimore was dispatched from the old basement courtroom of the Capitol in 1844.

The worship service was led by Mrs. William Gibson before a setting of a world map, a horn of plenty, a picture of Christ and a gathering of dolls representing all nations. It depicted the friendship which exists between the U.S. and Canada.

Hostesses were Mrs. Raymond Moore and Mrs. Wilbur Hawthorne, assisted by Mrs. Richard Mason and Mrs. William Carr.

The next meeting will be Nov. 1 at the Morgan House, with Mrs. Earl Foster and Mrs. Alexander hostesses.

Legion Auxiliary Meets

Mrs. Thomas Tucker, president of the American Legion Auxiliary, presided at the regular meeting Monday night at the Legion home.

Mrs. Vernon Flora Jr., vice president and membership chairman, announced dues are due before Oct. 10 so they can be reported at the district meeting. There are 70 members paid to date.

The Columbiana County Council meeting will be held Oct. 28 at 8 p.m. at the Columbiana post home.

Mrs. Wayne Calhoun, coordinator of the Red Cross bloodmobile, thanked members of the Auxiliary for their cooperation during the previous bloodmobile visit Sept. 13.

Mrs. Ralph Vance of Salem, guest speaker, described the work accomplished by the mental health clinic and emphasized the need for passage of the mental health levy at the Nov. 8 election.

Mrs. Lynn Riddle received a prize. Mrs. Elbert Burson was chairman of the refreshments committee. Twenty-five members attended.

The next meeting, Nov. 7, will feature initiation and a special program.

Beer is probably the oldest beverage known to man.

Chester Drive Pushed On Behalf Of Area MD

The Chester campaign on behalf of Muscular Dystrophy, which began Sept. 19, will continue through Oct. 24.

Plans include a rummage sale to be held in the Ciccarelli Building on Carolina Ave., beginning Oct. 10 and continuing through Oct. 22. A bake sale also will be included on the closing day.

A "roadblock" is being planned by the Grant District Burial Group and cannisters will be placed in public establishments and a solicitation of businesses and organizations conducted.

Those wishing to contribute in any way may contact the chairman, Mrs. Harold Staley of 447 Florida Ave., or Mrs. John D. Fitzjohn of 500 California Ave.

Campaign leaders stressed that "any donations will be greatly appreciated."

The Chester drive is being conducted in conjunction with the Columbiana County MD chapter, which serves Columbiana, Beaver and Hancock counties. One of the 26 patients being cared for at the present time is from Chester, Mrs. Staley pointed out.

Current officers are Harry Martin, president; James A. Staley, vice president, Mrs. Staley, secretary, and Mrs. Ruth Jenkins, treasurer.

The chapter purchases all orthopedic equipment for the patients, such as braces, wheelchairs and shoes, and also transports patients to and from their clinical visits every three to six months. The nearest clinic is Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Staley said among the needs at present is a heavy-duty wheelchair at an approximate cost of $400.

Drivers Cited In 2 Mishaps

Two East Palestine area drivers were cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol as a result of two of three district highway mishaps Tuesday.

Adam Moore, 20, of 85½ Rebecca St. was charged after his auto struck the rear of a sedan at Negley.

Alice M. Dickey, 43, of Negley had halted her 1966 sedan on Route 170 at Route 154 and was about to make a left turn when Moore, who had increased his speed to cross railroad tracks, struck the rear of her car.

He was cited for misuse of a temporary license tag and lack of an operator's license.

Larry Elbert Johnson, 17, of East Palestine R.D. 1 was cited for speeding after his 1959 convertible went off Township Rd. 702 south of Route 30 in the Minerva area last evening and struck a utility pole.

Officers said Johnson's car went off the right side and traveled 177 feet before hitting the pole which was knocked down and continued another 69 feet out of control.

Joseph Nussman, 24, of Pittsburgh escaped injury when his 1965 sports coach went off a curve of Route 154 a mile east of Lisbon yesterday afternoon and into a ditch. The left front of the auto was damaged.

George Washington laid the cornerstone for the national Capitol.

Woman Receives 'Pacemaker' For Heart Condition

Mrs. Lewis Koch of Blackhawk expects to return home this week following insertion of a pacemaker in her heart Sept. 22 at Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Koch, 65, had suffered for three years from two heart blocks, resulting in low blood pressure which caused her to black out. Following four weeks in Providence Hospital, where her condition worsened, Mrs. Koch consented to the surgery, which required a 10-hour, two-day operation.

The lengthy surgery was performed at Presbyterian Hospital. Mrs. Koch was conscious throughout, having local anesthesia. On the second day of the operation, she was returned to her room at 11:20 a.m. and sat up to eat lunch at noon.

Her daughter, Peggy, said she noticed a change in her mother's skin color immediately. Her heartbeat of 40 has increased to 70. The pacemaker regulates the beat of her heart.

She and her husband, retired from the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp., plan to visit her brother in Arizona as soon as she returns from the hospital. Under the care of a Beaver Falls physician, she will receive periodic checkups.

The first telegraphed message from Washington to Baltimore was dispatched from the old basement courtroom of the Capitol in 1844.

Defeated Arnall Endorsed

Georgia Voters Offered Write-In For Governor

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Georgia voters were offered a write-in choice for governor today when a citizens group endorsed once-defeated Ellis G. Arnall in opposition to Democratic and Republican nominees.

Arnall, loser in the Democratic primary runoff to segregationist Lester G. Maddox, was decided upon shortly before 1 a.m. by a committee set up at a meeting of several hundred persons.

In a startling move, Dr. Martin Luther King Sr., father of the civil rights leader, urged earlier that Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., be tapped as the write-in choice.

"The only man I know now that can save this state is Herman Talmadge," King said. A Talmadge aide said in Washington the senator had no comment.

The write-in effort entered Georgia's topsy-turvy political situation one day after Rep. Charles L. Weltner stunned Democratic supporters by withdrawing as the nominee for a third term in Congress rather than keep a party loyalty pledge and vote for Maddox.

Fulton County Democratic Executive Committee members were called to a meeting today to nominate a replacement for Weltner.

Weltner, who had said he would cast a write-in ballot for governor, was among proposed gubernatorial candidates discussed at the meeting. But it was agreed to honor his wish to stay out of the picture.

Most of those at the meeting said they could not vote for Maddox or Rep. Howard H. (Bo) Callaway, the Republican nominee — a conservative ex-Democrat.

In the event the write-in candidate drew enough votes to block a majority for any of the gubernatorial candidates, the state House of Representatives would elect the governor. And some of the voters predicted that the certain outcome would be Maddox's election anyway.

Kaiser Talks To Rotarians

Pete Kaiser screened slides of his spring trip to the Virgin Islands during the luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club Tuesday at the Travelers Hotel.

Kaiser was accompanied by Dr. J. Fraser Jackson. The two stayed at the home of Richard V. Beatty in St. Thomas.

They signed on as part of the working crew of the "Maverick," a trawler with a gloried past. The ship has sailed around the world and assisted with the evacuations during the Battle of Dunkirk. Its former skipper was killed at that time by a strafing German plane.

Kaiser noted the absence of insects around homes in the island area due to the presence of iguanas, a lizard-like reptile which devours insects.

President Arthur V. Doak announced this is National Interact Week. Interact is Rotary's counterpart of the Kiwanis' Key Club. Although East Liverpool does not have a chapter at present, there are some 1,100 Interact Clubs throughout the U.S.

A board meeting followed yesterday's regular meeting.

Chamber Warns On Solicitations For Advertising

Merchants and manufacturers who receive printed forms in the mail which appear to be billings for classified directory advertising already authorized should check carefully before making payments, the Chamber of Commerce said today.

Although it is not readily apparent on the form, it actually is a solicitation for advertising —not a bill for an ad already placed, according to the community protection service of the Chamber.

At least two California firms have mailed the forms to East Liverpool business houses recently. One is located in Studio City and the other gives a return address in Los Angeles.

The Chamber said persons who do not check the forms carefully might issue a check inadvertently for advertising which they do not want. At a casual glance, one of the forms could be mistaken for billing for advertising in the telephone company's "Yellow Pages" directory, the Chamber said. Each firm uses the words "Classified Directory" in large type at the top of the solicitation forms.

Defeated Arnall Endorsed

Georgia Voters Offered Write-In For Governor

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Georgia voters were offered a write-in choice for governor today when a citizens group endorsed once-defeated Ellis G. Arnall in opposition to Democratic and Republican nominees.

Arnall, loser in the Democratic primary runoff to segregationist Lester G. Maddox, was decided upon shortly before 1 a.m. by a committee set up at a meeting of several hundred persons.

In a startling move, Dr. Martin Luther King Sr., father of the civil rights leader, urged earlier that Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., be tapped as the write-in choice.

"The only man I know now that can save this state is Herman Talmadge," King said. A Talmadge aide said in Washington the senator had no comment.

The write-in effort entered Georgia's topsy-turvy political situation one day after Rep. Charles L. Weltner stunned Democratic supporters by withdrawing as the nominee for a third term in Congress rather than keep a party loyalty pledge and vote for Maddox.

Fulton County Democratic Executive Committee members were called to a meeting today to nominate a replacement for Weltner.

Weltner, who had said he would cast a write-in ballot for governor, was among proposed gubernatorial candidates discussed at the meeting. But it was agreed to honor his wish to stay out of the picture.

Most of those at the meeting said they could not vote for Maddox or Rep. Howard H. (Bo) Callaway, the Republican nominee — a conservative ex-Democrat.

In the event the write-in candidate drew enough votes to block a majority for any of the gubernatorial candidates, the state House of Representatives would elect the governor. And some of the voters predicted that the certain outcome would be Maddox's election anyway.

Kaiser Talks To Rotarians

Pete Kaiser screened slides of his spring trip to the Virgin Islands during the luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club Tuesday at the Travelers Hotel.

Kaiser was accompanied by Dr. J. Fraser Jackson. The two stayed at the home of Richard V. Beatty in St. Thomas.

They signed on as part of the working crew of the "Maverick," a trawler with a gloried past. The ship has sailed around the world and assisted with the evacuations during the Battle of Dunkirk. Its former skipper was killed at that time by a strafing German plane.

Kaiser noted the absence of insects around homes in the island area due to the presence of iguanas, a lizard-like reptile which devours insects.

President Arthur V. Doak announced this is National Interact Week. Interact is Rotary's counterpart of the Kiwanis' Key Club. Although East Liverpool does not have a chapter at present, there are some 1,100 Interact Clubs throughout the U.S.

A board meeting followed yesterday's regular meeting.

Aid To Education

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State has agreed to give private medical schools in the state $6,000 for each student they add to their basic enrollments.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said the program, meant to help turn out more physicians, would begin next fall.

Tax Collections Over Estimates In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG (AP) — General fund tax collections during September amounted to $83,967,000, some $1.067 million above estimates, the Governor's Office of Administration reported today.

The collections pushed the revenue intake for the first three months of the 1966-67 fiscal year to $234,417,000, or $4.014 million more than originally anticipated.

Corporate Net Income taxes and the realty transfer tax were the two levies which "showed noteworthy excesses" over estimates, the office said.

Corporate net income tax revenue amounted to $5,331,000 — $720,000 above the estimate — while the realty transfer tax brought in $2,921,000 — $471,000 more than expected.

The 5 per cent sales tax fell below the estimates for the month — $46,168,000 collected against $46,300,000 anticipated. For the year, however, the sales tax is higher than the estimates with $120.8 million collected as opposed to an estimate of $118.7 million.

Tax Collections Over Estimates In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG (AP) — General fund tax collections during September amounted to $83,967,000, some $1.067 million above estimates, the Governor's Office of Administration reported today.

The collections pushed the revenue intake for the first three months of the 1966-67 fiscal year to $234,417,000, or $4.014 million more than originally anticipated.

Corporate Net Income taxes and the realty transfer tax were the two levies which "showed noteworthy excesses" over estimates, the office said.

Corporate net income tax revenue amounted to $5,331,000 — $720,000 above the estimate — while the realty transfer tax brought in $2,921,000 — $471,000 more than expected.

The 5 per cent sales tax fell below the estimates for the month — $46,168,000 collected against $46,300,000 anticipated. For the year, however, the sales tax is higher than the estimates with $120.8 million collected as opposed to an estimate of $118.7 million.

Her Public Image

Ava's Wanting To Change

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Ava Gardner wants to change her public image.

"The image I seem to have — that I'm a loud-mouthed, temperamental, oversexed, sultry siren — sometimes terrifies me," said the film actress.

"People have a completely wrong idea about me. It's partly because of the roles I've played, partly the fault of the press.

"I don't go to cocktail parties or lead a very glamorous life. I am a very simple human being, easy to get along with except for a normal Irish temper. If I do lose it, I get over it the next minute.

"As for that funny word sultry, I'm as far from being sultry as — ."

Words failed Miss Gardner. She made a lovely grimace. On her face even a grimace looks good.

Ava was resting in her hotel suite after the strain of attending the premiere the night before of a $15-million production of "The Bible," in which she plays Sarah, wife of Abraham.

"It's the only time in my life I actually enjoyed working — making that picture," she remarked.

Ava went to Hollywood a quarter of a century ago as the beautiful but naive daughter of a North Carolina farmer. There she became a star before she felt she had become an actress. She has made 40 films and acquired and shed three famous husbands — Mickey Rooney, Artie Shaw and Frank Sinatra.

Although they brought her a fortune and a world-known name, she feels now she has rather wasted 25 years of her life.

"I really hate the work of being a movie star," she said frankly. "I don't have the emotional make-up for it — the love of exhibitionism.

"I should never have been a movie star, and I don't have a great respect for it. That's terrible, isn't it? And I've done it for 25 years.

"I don't like the life. I want to live quietly. I'm much too shy."

Many critics, however, feel Miss Gardner has matured into a fine actress, and the industry thinks well enough of her to offer her $400,000 and up for a single picture. She has lived in Spain for the last dozen years but now plans to spend more time in London, where she has taken over the apartment of the late Robert Ruark, author and columnist.

Ava said her big remaining goal was to retire to a life of privacy.

What is Ava really like? Well, in her own words:

"I like yellow roses, and nighttime. I'm a noctural creature for sure. Any fragrance that smells fresh and not too sweet. Cooking. I can make a h-l of a Yorkshire pudding. All kinds of music. The sea. Tennis, water skiing and golf. Arranging flowers. And wonderful friends of all kinds — bums, great intellectuals and even a few phonies.

"I'm not an intellectual myself. I feel more than I think.

"I'm sorry I spent 25 years making films. I wish now I had the things most important to a woman — a good marriage, children, a better education.

"When I'm old and gray I want to have a house by the sea, and paint, with a lot of wonderful chums, good music and booze around. And a d--n good kitchen to cook in.

"I love life, and I intend to be a very happy old lady!"

Youth, 18, Arrested In Firing At Children

CINCINNATI (AP) — An 18-year-old was arrested Tuesday night after police said he allegedly fired at children as they walked past his house.

Police had surrounded the home of David Bollinger after children reported they were fired at. Bollinger later came out and surrendered, officers said.

He was charged with two counts of shooting with intent to kill and discharging firearms. He reportdly had a .25 caliber foreign-made revolver.

Ancient Egyptians used olive oil as a lubricaint to aid the moving of heavy building materials, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Freckles usually result from being out in strong sunlight but are often hereditary.

Jury Ordered Locked Up In Stamps Case

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A federal jury trying five men charged with interstate transportation of stolen trading stamps has been ordered locked up nights until the trial ends.

Judge Gerald J. Weber of U.S. District Court ordered the nightly confinements Tuesday after asking each juror whether information outside of that heard in court, was received about the case.

The jury of nine men and three women all denied receiving any outside information.

Weber also ordered that the jurors be prohibited from receiving news reports about the trial.

The order came after the government rested its case against the defendants, Ralph C. Hobbs, 49, Beaver Falls; George Lairs, 52, Ambridge; Joseph B. Morris, 49, San Francisco; Victor Battista, 37, East Orange, N.J., and Gaetano Miceli, 37, Buffalo, N.Y.

Defense motions for dismissal of the charges were denied by Weber. Defense attorneys were scheduled to open their cases Wednesday as the trial entered its fifth day of testimony.

The men were arrested May 12 with a portion of some 90 million trading stamps stolen from a Chicago warehouse.

Solid Clue Lacking In Baffling Murder

CINCINNATI (AP)—A week has passed since the bodies of a Bridgetown couple and their daughter were found in their home. Police say they still lack a solid clue in the baffling murder.

A search Tuesday of storm and sanitary sewers around the Jerome Bricca home failed to produce an ornate carving knife, which police believe may have been used to kill Bricca, 28, his wife, Linda Jane, 24, and their daughter, Debbie, 4.

The knife is missing from the Bricca home and police theorized the killer may have stabbed the victims with it and then thrown it into a sewer. Each victim was stabbed repeatedly.

An award for the arrest and conviction of the killer, meanwhile, has risen to $15,000.

These can be heard 28 miles away.

Dear friends,

The desired funeral director should be called without delay, by the next of kin, immediately after death occurs.

He can begin to relieve the family of the many details and arrangements which crowd in upon them at this difficult time.

As the doctor's presence is helpful in time of illness, so too is the funeral director's presence reassuring and helpful in this hour of grief.

Respectfully,

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married 10 years. In all that time there has been sort of an unwritten law in the house that whenever we have chicken for dinner he was to get the breast.

The children like the legs and I like the wings and the neck (which no one else seems to care much about) so everything works out.

Last night, for some reason I can't explain, the breast looked awfully good to me and I reached over to put it on my plate. All of a sudden I felt a fork bearing down on my wrist.

I looked up into the angriest eyes I've ever seen. My husband screamed, "You know the breast is my piece. How dare you take it?"

With that he picked up his salad and silver and walked into the living room to finish his meal. All of this was in front of the children.

I tried to explain that his performance was uncalled for but he wouldn't even speak to me. I told him he had behaved like a 12-year-old child. Do you agree? — A.W.C.

-:-

Dear A.W.C.: No. Most 12-year-olds behave better than that. Would you believe 4?

From now on, instead of buying a whole chicken, select the pieces you want, Lady.

Child Of Fear

Dear Ann: I know you can't analyze me by mail, but you have a way of helping people with just the right sentence or two. I'm hoping you can do something for me.

I'm 32, have been married for three years and both my husband and I want a family awfully bad.

The problem is that I'm petrified of childbirth. Whenever a friend tells me she is pregnant I become so envious I can hardly stand it. Then I get to thinking about the agony of labor pains and I'm gald it's not me.

The conflict is terrible and I don't know what to do about it. I know I'm being unfair to my husband and this has caused terrible guilt feelings. Is there any hope for me? — CHILDLESS.

Dear Childless: There are more than 3 billion people in the world and every single one of them got here the same way.

Some women have prolonged and excruciating deliveries. Other women have had such speedy deliveries that their babies are born in taxis, on hospital lawns and in elevators.

Make an appointment with an obstetrician and discuss your anxieties. He will describe the various types of anesthesia which I'm sure will give you reassurance.

You can look at this way, too: If you had an attack of appendicitis you'd have the bellyache and nothing to show for it.

Pointed Point

Dear Ann: I'm 20 years old and going with a nice young man who is 22. I met him at work.

This fellow gave me a very pretty pin for my birthday. He didn't say the little stones were diamonds but he tried to give me the impression they were by telling me that the pin "set him back a lot."

This morning one of the sets fell out and it's sure as heck a rhinestone. Should I let him know that I know the stones aren't real? — KIND OF DISAPPOINTED

-:-

Dear Kind: The stones are real — real rhinestones, Kiddo. Concern yourself with whether the fellow is real and forget about the pin. Get the point?

Still Fit At 75, He's 'Star' At YMCA

PERTH, Australia (AP) — Nickoli Iwanoff, a Bulgarian aged 75, is the star turn at the gymnasium of the Perth Young Men's Christian Association.

Many a middle - aged man who believed himself fit, has had to change his mind after watching the wiry little Bulgarian somersaulting his way through an amazing series of exercises.

"He can do gymnastic movements which the average man of 45 would find impossible to perform," said YMCA physical director David Robertson.

Bulgarian television featured his physical skills just before he migrated to Perth from Sofia a year ago to join his architect son Ivan.

"We had not seen each other for 25 years but father had not changed one bit," Ivan said. "One of his first needs was a set of parallel bars and directions to the nearest gym."

Glee Club Sets Tour

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The University of Michigan men's glee club will leave next May for its first round-the-world concert tour. They will make several appearances in the United States and in at least 19 foreign cities, including two in the Soviet Union.

Ohio University led the Mid-American Conference in football attendance last season, averaging 14,092 for its five home games.

Hospital Treats 6 Hurt In Varied Monday Mishaps

A boy hurt playing football and a girl injured in a fall were among six area residents treated at City Hospital after Monday mishaps.

Paul Copestick, son of Frank Copestick of R. D. 3, received an injury to the left wrist while playing football.

Mona Stambolia, daughter of Mrs. Donna Stambolia of 311 Carolina Ave., suffered a bruised eyebrow in a fall on cement.

Mrs. Helen Bonamy of Newell was treated for a puncture wound of the arm received from an object while burning rubbish.

James Matheny of Sunnyside, carpenter for the Potters Construction Co., suffered injuries of the fingers on the right hand.

Hobert Stowers of Shadyside Ave., an employe of the Iron City Sand & Gravel Co., received a puncture wound of the left foot on a nail.

Darrell Foreman of East Liverpool suffered a cut on the right hand on metal.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I keep my vacuum cleaner in good condition?

A. — Keep the motor oiled, and often, empty the bag after each using (unless you have the disposable bags that pop out after they are filled), and turn off the motor immediately when you are not actually working—and the life of your cleaner should be lengthened.

Q.—How can I make a neater job of laundering ribbons?

A.—After laundering them, dip the ribbons into a gum arabic or gum tragacanth solution, then stretch them to dry over a smooth surface, such as the edge of your bathtub. Ribbons stretched in this manner do not require ironing.

Thieves Are Foiled, Grabbed Wrong Bag

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)— Jose M. Tosato closed his restaurant one night recently and took the day's receipts home in a paper bag.

Later he answered a knock on the door and was pushed aside by two men, one of whom had a pistol and the other a knife, police said.

Tosato told police the men grabbed a paper bag from the table and fled.

But, he said, they grabbed a bag full of candy instead of the one with the money.

Oppose Bar On Restrictions

Police Chiefs Urge More News On Crimes, Trials

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A proposal by an American Bar Association Committee on free press and free trial to restrict news stories on crimes and trials was opposed Tuesday by many of America's police chiefs.

They urged, instead, more publicity.

The views, expressed in interviews with the Philadelphia Bulletin, were obtained during a recess of meetings of the International Association of Chiefs of Police being held here.

Under the ABA proposal, made public last week, police and attorneys would not be permitted to disclose the defendants' prior criminal record, make statements about his reputation, or reveal the contents or even the existence of an alleged confession.

Edwin M. McMamara, Boston police chief, said, "I don't see how we could be more restricted than we are now. I feel the public has a right to know how bad a criminal is and that his record should be printed."

"The more the press blasts the serious criminal in the paper, the better we like it," said Edward F. Leiss, Metuchen, N.J., police chief. "We want the public to be aroused to crime and its seriousness. And, I think the public has a right to know."

Russell T. Beebe, East St. Louis, Ill., police commissioner, said, "It's gotten to where now the police can't do anything." He added:

"I don't think that the police are giving out too much information about accused persons. I don't think they're giving out enough. I feel that the police should be giving out information on juvenile offenders. The public should be alerted to these criminals too, particularly sex offenders."

Elmer J. Thomson, police chief in Ridgefield, N.J., said, "A well-informed citizenry is needed if you are to have its cooperation in fighting crime."

September Drop Reported In City Traffic Mishaps

East Liverpool recorded 67 traffic mishaps in September, a decline of five from August's 72, it was shown today in the police department's monthly statistical summary.

One person was killed in September traffic, against none in August. The mishaps also resulted in injury of three pedestrians and 11 motorists. Four pedestrians and 19 motorists were hurt in August traffic.

The department logged 684 radio transmissions and made 75 arrests, including three for driving while intoxicated. Fifteen casualty reports were filed, listing data primarily on persons taken ill or injured while on the streets.

The department listed five missing persons reports, three stolen cars, eight cases of burglary, 28 of petty theft and 14 of vandalism. Sixteen cars were towed off the streets — mostly vehicles disabled in traffic mishaps.

The statistics are compiled by Capt. Robert H. Pyle for use of the local department and other agencies such as the National Safety Council and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Domestic Matters, War

Top Republicans Giving GOP Candidates Advice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top Republicans are giving GOP campaigners some hard-line advice on domestic matters and on the war in Viet Nam.

To some extent, it sounds an echo of the policies Barry Goldwater advocated in his losing campaign for the White House.

Goldwater was not on hand Monday when a council of party leaders declared the United States should fight harder in Viet Nam, and demanded steps to deal with rioting and crime in American cities.

Both positons are in line with the stands he took two years ago.

A Republican spokesman said the policy statements, issued by the Republican Coordinating Committee, will be sent to all the nominees now campaigning to rebuild the party's battered fortunes in Congress and in state offices.

GOP National Chairman Ray C. Bliss cautiously forecast "reasonable gains" in the elections now little more than a month away.

But he also reported that GOP polls show "a reasonable number of people undecided," and he said the situation is volatile.

Bliss said the war is the voters' No. 1 concern, but worries about civil rights, crime and racial violence are not far behind.

Goldwater and President Johnson agreed in advance of their campaign that racial tensions should be avoided as a political topic.

Bliss was asked whether the GOP considers civil rights and racial violence a legitimate issue in the current campaign.

"Law and order is of paramount importance to 99 per cent of the people of this nation regardless of race, color or creed," he replied.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower spoke bitterly of deliberate rioting "engendered for no purpose but to hurt the rest of us."

And the committee said Republicans would take steps to deal with "increasing disregard for the rights of others, creeping cynicism toward corruption, and mounting outbreaks of crime, violence and mob madness."

How Can I?

BY ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I avoid the tedious and exacting chore of painting the strips of fresh putty around my window panes?

A. — One good way to do this is to mix a little paint of the desired color with your putty before applying it. Use the thick pigment from the bottom of the paint can, and knead it until the color of your putty is uniform.

Q.—How can I clean out hard-to-remove sediment that clings to the bottoms of bottles or glass vses?

A.—Try filling the vessel half-full of warm soapsuds, then adding a handful of carpet tacks, and shaking the whole business vigorously for a few minutes. This will usually loosen the sediment in quick time.

The Shapp And Shafer Battle

Old, New Tangle In Pennsylvania

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

HARRISBURG, Pa. — (NEA) — "I've been a Kennedy guy all my life, but I'm sick of hearing people say a candidate has got to be ir the Kennedy image to win in politics.

"How many people are there who have it?"

The mild indignation came from Joseph Napolitan, top professional campaign adviser to Milton Shapp, Democratic nominee for governor of Pennsylvania against Republican Lt. Gov. Raymond Shafer.

At 53, Shapp is a slightly built, unprepossessing little man who will never be taken for a Kennedy type. Far more in that mold, in fact, was the Irish-handsome State Sen. Robert Casey, father of seven who was soundly defeated by Shapp's surprise primary surge in May.

—:—

THE NOTION somehow has taken root that the "new politics" practiced by Napolitan and other modern-day political consultants needs to be married to the new (Kennedy-style) breed of politicians. Napolitan's indignation is intended to argue that, at least in the 1966 Pennsylvania governor's race, this does not have to be the case.

He stops short of contending that he could come in cold from outside a state and elect anybody anywhere with the new techniques he favors. But he seems to imply it.

"If one more person told me I didn't understand Pennsylvania politics, I was going to bop him on the head."

The only faintly concealed core in that comment is the judgment that, in today's fast-growing and highly-mobile world, the standard political professional does not really know who the voters are, where they are or what their views are as to candidates and issues.

At the foundation of the "new politics" being applied for Shapp's benefit (and for others elsewhere in a burgeoning business) is deep, sophisticated, more or less continuous polling.

Out of the flood of detail this yields, Napolitan builds a mosaic profile of voter attitudes. From that mosaic, the issue campaign and the whole superstructure of candidate effort is erected.

Television and radio "spots," newspaper advertising, direct-mail brochures, billboards and other devices all reflect the consultant's presumably sharp analysis of the polls.

Says Napolitan: "We've got a position on everything you can imagine."

—:—

HE INSISTS, however, that Shapp's stance is not tailored to fit poll results, that voter approaches are developed only as he approves.

If sharp reading and use of polls is crucial, so is quality production of the "merchandising" efforts built on poll readings.

"You just can't make good cheap films," says Napolitan as he concedes that last spring's highly-rated half-hour documentary and radio-television spots on Shapp cost nearly $120,000 to produce. Everything he does costs big money, on the theory that anything short of top-grade in any field is wasted. A respected brochure mailed in the primary fight to 1.1 million voters cost $65,000 to print and send out.

The response to all this costly endeavor from Shapp's opponent, the blond, rangy, 48-year-old Shafer, has been striking indeed. The great cry has gone up from the Republican camp that the governor's chair is "not for sale." Accompanying charges of "unethical" conduct, thus far not carefully documented, are levied against Shapp.

Unquestionably, Shapp shivered GOP timbers when he swept to an upset victory May 17 over his Democratic organization rival, Casey. Spending $1.4 millin of his own cash, Shapp came out of nowhere (his polls gave him 6 per cent of the vote in April) to roll up a 49,000-vote margin. His television, radio and newspaper barrages all hit Pennsylvania voters after May 1.

Remembering the deluge, experienced GOP professionals like State Chairman Craig Truax are as nervous as cats. They cannot be taken by surprise as were old-line Democratic chiefs in May. But they are driven up the walls by their tantalizing ignorance of what the new deluge may contain.

YET SHAFER, Gov. William Scranton and the Republican organization are not standing idle, waiting to be buried.

Probably they will spend upwards of $2 million in this campaign — roughly the same amoung impartial judges say Shapp will spend. Shafer, no less than Shapp, will have the aid of a touted political advertising firm.

The tight-strung Truax, a youngish organization type respected by the non-organization Napolitan in Shapp's camp, refuses to put all Shafer's chips in the "new politics" pot.

He insists the standard state-county-city-precinct organization, fleshed out by four years of Scranton in power, will supply useful party muscle that a Democratic organization downgraded by Shapp will not be able to match. He is not ready to buy Napolitan's dictim that "politics has advanced so rapidly the county chairmen can't keep up."

As fast as Shapp rains blows on Shafer and the Pennsylvania Republicans as "captives of the Goldwater wing" presiding over a state of decay, they dance away and shoot out hookinig counterblows which unsettle Shapp's managers a little — if not him.

The match with an alerted Shafer is obviously a tough one. In a way, though each side is funneling big money into all media, it will be Joe Napolitan's "new politics" against Craig Truax's freshly sinewed "old politics." All of tomorrow's politics may learn from the outcome.

Prayer Day Plans Outlined For Midland Area Council

"Of His Kindom There Shall Be No End" was announced as the theme of the 1967 World Day of Prayer when the Midland Area Council of United Church Women met Monday at the home of the president, Mrs. Homer Paul of Ohio View at Industry.

Eight members attended representing the St. Paul AME, First Baptist, Mt. Olive Baptist, the Industry EUB, First Presbyterian, Church of the Living God and the Ohio View Lutheran at Industry.

Mrs. U. Williams gave the invocation. Mrs. Paul presented a reading, "The Splendor of Love." The secretary and treasurer's reports were submitted.

The 1967 dues were paid and members voted $10 contributions to the World Community Project and the Delta Project.

The meeting was adjourned with a Mizpah benediction.

Mrs. Robert Cowan is secretary. The treasurer is Mrs. Robert Jones.

Youth Loses License On Speeding Charges

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff Tuesday ordered a 20-day suspension in the driver's license of Brett R. Kaufman, 21, of Youngstown, who pleaded guilty to a State Highway Patrol charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 30 Monday night at 7:05.

Edward Czernecki of Houston, Pa., cited Monday night at 9:15 on Route 30 on a charge of speeding 60 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone, forfeited a $17.50 bond. A $32.50 bond was forfeited by James M. Warren of Linesville, Ohio, arrested last night at 7:05 on Route 30, accused of driving 70 in a 50-mile zone.

The judge continued a hearing until Oct. 13 for Lance R. Hill of Goshen, N. Y., cited Monday at 7:30 p. m. on W. 4th St. by Patrolman Karl Samples on a charge of driving without a license.

Group Seeks Extension Of Water Mains

Extension of Chester water mains to the 3rd St. Ext. area was discussed during a meeting of the Chester Water and Sewer Commission Monday night.

Richard Sprout, representing a group of householders of the area, asked the commission to authorize sale of water to the area. It was explained the customers would have to have mains and lines installed to tie into existing mains.

Mayor Burton Ward suggested Sprout attend the next meeting of the Hancock County Planning Commission to discuss federal aid for the project.

Discussion also was held on street opening permits. Mayor Ward pointed out the fee was amended in 1959 and is now $5 a yard. He said anyone excavating a street without a permit is liable to a fine.

It was announced construction will begin soon on an overflow at a manhole at 3rd St. and Virginia Ave. to prevent backing of water into basements following heavy rains.

It also was announced Public Service Commission regulations require municipalities to charge water customers the regular sewer rate whether or not they are connected to a sewer line if such a line is available.

The next meeting will be Nov. 7.

City Prepares To Use Structure In East End

City crews are busy preparing to move into their new equipment storage and maintenance building, the former Valley Motor Transit Co. bus barn in East End which the municipality purchased in August for $95,000.

The building is in the process of being prepared for the moved and broken window panes being replaced. Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said. It will be used primarily by the street department, at least at the outset.

Vodrey said the move will be gradual, extending over several days. In moving to East End, the city crew will vacate the present equipment barn in the old West End fire station on Lisbon St., which has been condemned. The street department's telephone number will remain unchanged. It is 385-2152.

Bounty Of $25,000 On Starfish Untouched

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — A $25,000 state fund for a bounty on starfish set aside earlier this year hasn't been touched, state officials report.

The bounty was placed on the starfish after they destroyed more than 22,000 bushels of transplanted quahaugs, an edible clam, in Narragansett Bay last year.

The Shapp And Shafer Battle

Old, New Tangle In Pennsylvania

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

HARRISBURG, Pa. — (NEA) — "I've been a Kennedy guy all my life, but I'm sick of hearing people say a candidate has got to be ir the Kennedy image to win in politics.

"How many people are there who have it?"

The mild indignation came from Joseph Napolitan, top professional campaign adviser to Milton Shapp, Democratic nominee for governor of Pennsylvania against Republican Lt. Gov. Raymond Shafer.

At 53, Shapp is a slightly built, unprepossessing little man who will never be taken for a Kennedy type. Far more in that mold, in fact, was the Irish-handsome State Sen. Robert Casey, father of seven who was soundly defeated by Shapp's surprise primary surge in May.

—:—

THE NOTION somehow has taken root that the "new politics" practiced by Napolitan and other modern-day political consultants needs to be married to the new (Kennedy-style) breed of politicians. Napolitan's indignation is intended to argue that, at least in the 1966 Pennsylvania governor's race, this does not have to be the case.

He stops short of contending that he could come in cold from outside a state and elect anybody anywhere with the new techniques he favors. But he seems to imply it:

"If one more person told me I didn't understand Pennsylvania politics, I was going to bop him on the head."

The only faintly concealed core in that comment is the judgment that, in today's fast-growing and highly-mobile world, the standard political professional does not really know who the voters are, where they are or what their views are as to candidates and issues.

At the foundation of the "new politics" being applied for Shapp's benefit (and for others elsewhere in a burgeoning business) is deep, sophisticated, more or less continuous polling.

Out of the flood of detail this yields, Napolitan builds a mosaic profile of voter attitudes. From that mosaic, the issue campaign and the whole superstructure of candidate effort is erected.

Television and radio "spots," newspaper advertising, direct-mail brochures, billboards and other devices all reflect the consultant's presumably sharp analysis of the polls.

Says Napolitan: "We've got a position on everything you can imagine."

—:—

HE INSISTS, however, that Shapp's stance is not tailored to fit poll results, that voter approaches are developed only as he approves.

If sharp reading and use of polls is crucial, so is quality production of the "merchandising" efforts built on poll readings.

"You just can't make good cheap films," says Napolitan as he concedes that last spring's highly-rated half-hour documentary and radio-television spots on Shapp cost nearly $120,000 to produce. Everything he does costs big money, on the theory that anything short of top-grade in any field is wasted. A respected brochure mailed in the primary fight to 1.1 million voters cost $65,000 to print and send out.

The response to all this costly endeavor from Shapp's opponent, the blond, rangy, 48-year-old Shafer, has been striking indeed. The great cry has gone up from the Republican camp that the governor's chair is "not for sale." Accompanying charges of "unethical" conduct, thus far not carefully documented, are levied against Shapp.

Unquestionably, Shapp shivered GOP timbers when he swept to an upset victory May 17 over his Democratic organization rival, Casey. Spending $1.4 millin of his own cash, Shapp came out of nowhere (his polls gave him 6 per cent of the vote in April) to roll up a 49,000-vote margin. His television, radio and newspaper barrages all hit Pennsylvania voters after May 1.

Remembering the deluge, experienced GOP professionals like State Chairman Craig Truax are as nervous as cats. They cannot be taken by surprise as were old-line Democratic chiefs in May. But they are driven up the walls by their tantalizing ignorance of what the new deluge may contain.

YET SHAFER, Gov. William Scranton and the Republican organization are not standing idle, waiting to be buried.

Probably they will spend upwards of $2 million in this campaign — roughly the same amoung impartial judges say Shapp will spend. Shafer, no less than Shapp, will have the aid of a touted political advertising firm.

The tight-strung Truax, a youngish organization type respected by the non-organization Napolitan in Shapp's camp, refuses to put all Shafer's chips in the "new politics" pot.

He insists the standard state-county-city-precinct organization, fleshed out by four years of Scranton in power, will supply useful party muscle that a Democratic organization downgraded by Shapp will not be able to match. He is not ready to buy Napolitan's dictim that "politics has advanced so rapidly the county chairmen can't keep up."

As fast as Shapp rains blows on Shafer and the Pennsylvania Republicans as "captives of the Goldwater wing" presiding over a state of decay, they dance away and shoot out hookinig counterblows which unsettle Shapp's managers a little — if not him.

The match with an alerted Shafer is obviously a tough one. In a way, though each side is funneling big money into all media, it will be Joe Napolitan's "new politics" against Craig Truax's freshly sinewed "old politics." All of tomorrow's politics may learn from the outcome.

Group Seeks Extension Of Water Mains

Extension of Chester water mains to the 3rd St. Ext. area was discussed during a meeting of the Chester Water and Sewer Commission Monday night.

Richard Sprout, representing a group of householders of the area, asked the commission to authorize sale of water to the area. It was explained the customers would have to have mains and lines installed to tie into existing mains.

Mayor Burton Ward suggested Sprout attend the next meeting of the Hancock County Planning Commission to discuss federal aid for the project.

Discussion also was held on street opening permits. Mayor Ward pointed out the fee was amended in 1959 and is now $5 a yard. He said anyone excavating a street without a permit is liable to a fine.

It was announced construction will begin soon on an overflow at a manhole at 3rd St. and Virginia Ave. to prevent backing of water into basements following heavy rains.

It also was announced Public Service Commission regulations require municipalities to charge water customers the regular sewer rate whether or not they are connected to a sewer line if such a line is available.

The next meeting will be Nov. 7.

City Prepares To Use Structure In East End

City crews are busy preparing to move into their new equipment storage and maintenance building, the former Valley Motor Transit Co. bus barn in East End which the municipality purchased in August for $95,000.

The building is in the process of being prepared for the moved and broken window panes being replaced, Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said. It will be used primarily by the street department, at least at the outset.

Vodrey said the move will be gradual, extending over several days. In moving to East End, the city crew will vacate the present equipment barn in the old West End fire station on Lisbon St., which has been condemned. The street department's telephone number will remain unchanged. It is 385-2152.

Widow Finds Zest For Living Again

The greatest rewards of writing a column come from the letters. People are wonderful! When a busy woman will take the trouble to sit down and tell her story in order to help others hurdle seemingly insurmountable obstacles, this bolsters the morale of all who read the column. Today's letter from a widow is truly heart-warming.

Ida Jean Kain

"I lost my husband three years ago. No words can convey how lost I was without him. I was only 45 years old. I was overweight and in the following two years I became far more overweight, and I didn't care. I lived in self-pity, almost hating everything and everyone.

—:—

"ONE DAY, I suddenly realized that I must change and build a new life for myself. It's as if a voice had spoken. I had at one time operated a cafe. I decided that work would be good medicine. I know I should lose the ugly fat I was dragging around, not only to improve my looks but for the sake of my health.

"Reducing was not easy, for now cooking was my living. I'd had the idea that a fat cook was a good cook. Gradually I changed my mind about that. . . food need not be fattening to taste delicious.

"However, it was easier for me to skip the evening meal than just to try to cut down. So, I ate my main meal in the middle of the day. At night I had a cup of tea with a little sugar. I relied on lean meats, nutritious but non - fattening soups, lots of vegetables and salads. I ate the protective foods that you stress. I steered clear of the homemade pastries. They were my temptation.

"I SOON began to lose my self - pity. When compliments started coming about my weight loss, my self-respect and confidence grew. My health improved and my interest in life was rekindled. I gained a spring in my step and felt young again. I lightened my hair a little and changed to a more becoming style.

"Now I am engaged to a wonderful man who I know is going to make me very happy. When I think of the time I wasted feeling sorry for myself and carrying all that weight around, I want to tell others, 'Don't let life pass you by. Do wake up and live again.' If my story can help others, please use it."

We are grateful to this reader for sharing. Only a woman who has come out of the depths of despair could write such a letter. It takes uncommon courage to get back into life, but the rewards do come.

At Western Beaver Meeting

Cost Of School Addition Estimated At $690,492

Supt. Frank Meredith announced to the Western Beaver County School board Monday night an estimated cost of $690,492 for a planned addition for the Fairview School.

The cost has been determined after a full survey of plans and specifications for the 10-classroom structure with administrative offices, library facilities and music room.

Bids will be opened Oct. 13 for the project at the Fairview Elementary School.

Charles P. Henderson was appointed a member of the board of education replacing Bernie Schmitt who resigned because of a conflicting work schedule. Henderson will serve until December 1971.

Donald Nelson resigned as coach of the cross-country team and was replaced by Cecil Allison, physical education teacher.

A tax-sheltered annuity program for school personnel was approved. Participation by faculty members and other workers is optional.

Receiving permission to attend conferences were Mrs. Camille Cambier, Future Homemakers of America session at Pennsylvania State University in June; Mrs. Mary Alice Safford, Pennsylvania School librarians' conference at Clarion April 21-22; Charles Smith, Department of Classroom Teachers conference at Bedford Springs Oct. 21-23; Michael Minich, audio-visual instructor session at Atlantic City April 4-7.

Angelo Cupani, National Council of Teachers of Mathematics at Cincinnati Nov. 11-12; Donald Bradshaw, elementary principal, state elementary principals' conference at Pittsburgh Oct. 13-15, and Michael Arbutina, high school principal, Department of Supervision and Curriculum at Harrisburg, Nov. 20-22.

The board authorized field trips for senior girls to attend "Play Day" at Aliquippa High School Oct. 13, the Business Club to a circus at Pittsburgh Oct. 29 and the art elective students and the Art Club to Old Economy at Ambridge Oct. 13 or Oct. 18.

Because of the increase in food prices and a decrease in surplus food and federal, cafeteria prices will be increased Nov. 1. The prices will be 40 cents for students and 50 cents for adults. They were formerly 35 cents and 45 cents.

Meredith said new bus stops have been established at the two entrances of the Reed Plan on TV Tower Rd. to eliminate crossing of the road by students.

Board members were authorized to attend the Pennsylvania School Boards Association meeting at Pittsburgh Oct. 19-22 if they desire.

Bills totaling $59,630 were paid. This included the Octobber payroll of $44,502. The next meeting will be Nov. 7.

Saturday Finals Awaited For Beaver 'Junior Miss'

Twenty Beaver County teenagers competing for the title of Junior Miss of Beaver County will appear in formal attire during the finals Saturday at 8 p.m. in Beaver Senior High School auditorium.

The new Junior Miss will receive a trophy, crown, evening gown and a $100 cash scholarship from the Beaver Area Jaycees, who are sponsoring the contest. The first and second runners-up each will receive a gift certificate from Beaver County merchants and a cash award from the Jaycees.

A "Miss Personality" trophy will be awarded the girl chosen by the contestants themselves on a secret ballot. A Creative and Performing Arts trophy also will be awarded.

Each applicant will receive a Junior Miss charm for entering.

Paul Underiner, a designer at Michael Baker Jr., Inc., will serve as master of ceremonies. Stephen Charney is general chairman, with Ray Kehr co-chairman. Charney and Kehr are designers at Michael Baker.

The applicants were interviewed Sunday afternoon at the Beaver County Times Building by the judges, Mrs. Eugene Kokoski of the Doris Singer dance studios; Paul London, general manager of the Times, and Richard Beckley of Brighton Township, sales representative of a Pittsburgh firm.

Charney said the state pageant will be held during Thanksgiving week at Reading, Pa., while the national pageant is scheduled at Mobile, Ala., in March 1967.

The national sponsors are the Chevrolet Division of General Motors, Inc., the Scott Paper Co., John H. Breck and Eastman Kodak.

'Pay-As-You-Go' Plan Set Up For Prisoners

BEAVER — The Beaver County Prison Board has put into effect a new system by which it will take into full possession wages and salaries paid any prisoner.

From these funds the board will allocate payments for board, costs, fines, restitution for crimes and family support and other obligations.

The action is authorized by Pennsylvania law, which also includes provisions for prisoners with jobs to serve terms on weekends or days off so as not to lose employment.

At present, five such prisoners are serving terms under the plan.

The new policy will be the first time the county has utilized salaries to charge room and board and other expenses for such prisoners.

Prisoners will pay $3 a day, or $1.50 a night.

The board also agreed to launch a rehabilitation program under the direction of the county board of education office, to provide basic reading, writing and arithmetic for prisoners.

Arrangements were made for erection of special barbed wire to be erected on all possible escape routes from the jail.

A committee was named to draft regulations concerning church services at the jail. Services recently were restored after a period of suspension.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I monogram some of my glassware permanently?

A.—After cleaning the glassware thoroughly, apply metalized, gummed letters to the glass. Wash away any adhesive that might ooze from the edges. Then spread clear epoxy resin evenly over the monograms, letting it extend about 1-16-inch beyond the edges of the letters. Let harden overnight. With a file or knife, level the coating. Clean and bevel the edges. Scrape smooth with a razor blade. To restore transparency, moisten a small cloth pad with a drop or two of linseed oil and three or four times as much shellac, and rub evenly over the area until a good shine appears.

Q.—How can I make a better job of cleaning ashtrays?

A.—By use of a stiff-bristled brush and some denatured alcohol. This treatment will do a nice job on either brass or copper ashtrays that are discolored by tobacco and nicotine.

Q.—How can I improvise some coconut when I have run out of the real thing?

A.—Grated raw potato makes a good substitute coconut. My new household manual contains many other such cooking hints and shortcuts.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

A New Low For Comedy

The most shameful waste of comedy talent on TV this season is taking place Sunday nights in the new CBS series, "It's About Time." Two of the people being corrupted by this moronic melange about two astronauts who've gone back in time and landed in the Stone Age are Imogene Coca and Cliff Norton.

Hal Humphrey

Both of them were initiated into TV in the early and, as it turns out, greener years. Miss Coca, as many remember, was doing those inimitable satiric skits with Sid Caesar on "Show of shows."

NORTON was a featured regular on the old "Garroway at Large" show out of Chicago. His comedy bits then were in the same sharply satiric vein as Caesar and Miss Coca's.

Norton naturally doesn't agree that "It's About Time" is the worst piece of junk comedy to come through the tube in a long time (probably all the way back to last season's "My Mother the Car"). He has worked out the rationale that "broad comedy" is an important kind of comedy and hence deserves its place in the TV schedule.

When Norton first was shown the pilot script of "It's About Time," he says he picked the role of Boso, not knowing it was the one the producer had in mind for him.

REGARDLESS if it be sophisticated or broad comedy, Norton will admit there has been a decline in the quality of comedy on TV in recent years. He sees as one reason for this decline the speeded-up schedule everyone is asked to abide by today.

"Comedy shows used to have their own writers functioning together with the comedian, like with Jack Benny's show, Burns & Allen, Phil Silvers' Bilko show and others," recalls Norton.

"Nat Hiken, who did the Silvers show, practically lived with it every week and wrote most of the scripts. But now a writer can't do that because he isn't given the time. We shot 12 of our shows in 43 working days, and had 11 different writers for 13 shows. Only two combinations of writers got to do more than one show."

THE REASONS for this speedup are many and complex, but economics are primary. On the schedule Norton described for "It's About Time," a producer hires everybody (directors, crew, etc.) by the week, but gets three shows in two weeks or, more important, three shows for the price of two.

"Actors and writers are just as talented today as before, but they can't stand that grind," concedes Norton. "It's tough enough to do one show a week."

What Norton is trying to tell us is that broad comedy also turns out to be cheaper than sophisticated comedy.

Some of you may have considered Sgt. Bilko (Phil Silvers) a rather broad type, but compared to It's About Time the Bilko series was pure Noel Coward.

THE AFOREMENTIONED Nat Hiken, writer - producer of Bilko, couldn't turn out anything as bad as "It's About Time" unless he hired 11 other writers to do it in half the time at half the price.

There is no law which says broad comedy can't have some substance or even significance to it. Laurel and Hardy, Abbott and Costello, Buster Keaton and many others managed with their slapstick to make some fairly sage comments on man and his foibles.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

A New Low For Comedy

The most shameful waste of comedy talent on TV this season is taking place Sunday nights in the new CBS series, "It's About Time." Two of the people being corrupted by this moronic melange about two astronauts who've gone back in time and landed in the Stone Age are Imogene Coca and Cliff Norton.

Hal Humphrey

Both of them were initiated into TV in the early and, as it turns out, greener years. Miss Coca, as many remember, was doing those inimitable satiric skits with Sid Caesar on "Show of shows."

NORTON was a featured regular on the old "Garroway at Large" show out of Chicago. His comedy bits then were in the same sharply satiric vein as Caesar and Miss Coca's.

Norton naturally doesn't agree that "It's About Time" is the worst piece of junk comedy to come through the tube in a long time (probably all the way back to last season's "My Mother the Car"). He has worked out the rationale that "broad comedy" is an important kind of comedy and hence deserves its place in the TV schedule.

When Norton first was shown the pilot script of "It's About Time," he says he picked the role of Boso, not knowing it was the one the producer had in mind for him.

REGARDLESS if it be sophisticated or broad comedy, Norton will admit there has been a decline in the quality of comedy on TV in recent years. He sees as one reason for this decline the speeded-up schedule everyone is asked to abide by today.

"Comedy shows used to have their own writers functioning together with the comedian, like with Jack Benny's show, Burns & Allen, Phil Silvers' Bilko show and others," recalls Norton.

"Nat Hiken, who did the Silvers show, practically lived with it every week and wrote most of the scripts. But now a writer can't do that because he isn't given the time. We shot 12 of our shows in 43 working days, and had 11 different writers for 13 shows. Only two combinations of writers got to do more than one show."

THE REASONS for this speedup are many and complex, but economics are primary. On the schedule Norton described for "It's About Time," a producer hires everybody (directors, crew, etc.) by the week, but gets three shows in two weeks or, more important, three shows for the price of two.

"Actors and writers are just as talented today as before, but they can't stand that grind," concedes Norton. "It's tough enough to do one show a week."

What Norton is trying to tell us is that broad comedy also turns out to be cheaper than sophisticated comedy.

Some of you may have considered Sgt. Bilko (Phil Silvers) a rather broad type, but compared to It's About Time the Bilko series was pure Noel Coward.

THE AFOREMENTIONED Nat Hiken, writer - producer of Bilko, couldn't turn out anything as bad as "It's About Time" unless he hired 11 other writers to do it in half the time at half the price.

There is no law which says broad comedy can't have some substance or even significance to it. Laurel and Hardy, Abbott and Costello, Buster Keaton and many others managed with their slapstick to make some fairly sage comments on man and his foibles.

Junior Editors Quiz on CLOUDS

QUESTION: Can one predict the weather by looking at the sky?

ANSWER: To do a real job of weather predicting, one needs to understand about cold and warm fronts, and to use barometers, wind gauges and weather maps. This is too complicated for most of us, but we all can watch the sky, see where the wind is coming from, and make some rough predictions which often come true. It will probably be fair if one sees small puffy clouds on a summer afternoon. It also will be fair if there is a gentle wind blowing from the west to northwest or if there is a fog in the morning and this burns off by noon, showing some clear sky overhead

But we may expect rain, wind or bad weather if one sees a dark, threatening sky to the west, or a thundercloud piling up, as in the picture. Also, look for bad weather when you see a ring around the moon, a wind from the south which is increasing, with clouds moving from the west. A north wind shifting to west and then south is another sign of rain or snow.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Try to learn something about warm and cold fronts. If you think you might like it, why not make a hobby of weather knowledge and weather prediction?

Ran Up Lead In Space Race

Soviet Launched First Satellite Nine Years Ago

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Nine years ago the Soviet Union launched the first man-made satellite, Sputnik 1, and astounded the world.

Nowhere was the shock felt more than in the United States, which considered itself the unchallenged technological leader on earth.

Not only had the Soviet Union scored a tremendous technological and propaganda breakthrough, it also had demonstrated a rocket of great power, capable of hurling nuclear warheads more than 5,000 miles. The best the United States had at the time was a 1,500-mile ballistic missile.

American prestige sank to a new low two months later — in December, 1957 — when it rushed a Vanguard satellite rocket to a Cape Canaveral launching pad, only to have the rocket explode a few inches off the ground.

The U.S. finally put a satellite in to orbit four months later, in January, 1958. That was Explorer 1, which discovered the Van Allen Radiation Belt.

But the Russians, with their huge rockets, ran up a clear lead in the budding space race: the first rocket to hit the moon, the first to take pictures of its back side, the heaviest satellites. And on April 12, 1961, the most glittering feat of all, orbiting the first spaceman, Yuri Gagarin.

It was 10 months later before John H. Glenn became the first orbiting American.

But as the United States rallied its great technical and industrial know-how, gradually this nation caught up and forged to a lead in almost every category of space flight.

Although nobody knew it at the time, the tide began to turn March 23, 1965, when the first two-man Gemini craft shot into orbit. It was only a five-hour flight and seemed overshadowed by a 24-hour trip just five days earlier by the Soviet Voskhod 2. On that flight, cosmonaut Alexei Leonov became history's first space walker.

Since Voskhod 2 — nearly 19 months ago — no Soviet cosmonauts have gone into space. In that period, nine Gemini craft in orbit have wrested every manned space record away from the Russians.

A total of 24 U.S. astronauts have logged 1,804 hours in space, compared to 11 cosmonauts and 507 hours.

The final Gemini flight is set for November and will be followed a month later by the first launching of a manned Apollo moonsip — a two-week orbital trip by three astronauts as another step toward the goal of manned flight to the moon.

America's Gemini astronauts demonstrated all the techniques necessary for traveling to the moon — rendezvous, linkup with another satellite, maneuverable spacecraft, and long duration trips up to 14 days.

The Soviets have not matched these feats. Unless they catch up on their next manned mission, U.S. experts feel they may forfeit their place in the moon sweepstakes.

The Soviets may have to do something soon. Winter is approaching and Soviet launching and landing areas are in the snow belt. That nation never has launched a manned shot between mid-October and mid-March because of weather.

The stated U.S. goal is to land men on the moon by 1970. The way things are going, if there are no serious setbacks, the historic event could occur in 1968.

A key step will be the first flight test next March of the huge Saturn 5 rocket that is to be the booster for three-man Apollo moon crews. This behemoth has 7.5 million pounds of first stage thrust, enough to boost the 47-ton Apollo ship from earth to moon. The Soviets, meanwhile, are believed to be working on a plan to use two or three of their smaller rockets to build a launch platform in earth orbit, where not so much thrust would be needed to take off for the moon.

Why has the flight portion of the Soviet man-in-space program slowed? What are the Soviets up to?

Charles S. Sheldon, member of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, has been analyzing the Soviet space program for years.

He recently forecast that the Soviets soon would launch a manned space station into earth orbit with five to nine men aboard. It could be forerunner of an orbiting platform for launching men to the moon. He said the 22-day orbit flight of two Soviet dogs earlier this year could indicate the approximate length of any upcoming trip.

Sheldon said the Soviets may try to send a manned Voskhod around the moon and return it to earth to test systems before setting out on a lunar landing expedition.

Sheldon also said the Soviets are interested in developing a strong military capability in space, something the United States has been approaching on a low key basis.

If so, the Sovets mght pull out of a moon race and concentrate on placing large space stations in earth orbit for reconnaissance, satellite inspection, communications and other military purposes.

PARNELLI JONES
